Gov. Raymond Shafer blasted Democrats in Harrisburg for refusing to support his tax legislation.

Milton Shapp, unsuccessful Democratic Party contender in the gubernatorial election last year, has filed charges in Montgomery County in an effort to secure a real estate tax on operating properties of utilities.

THE NATION

Miss Margaret Elizabeth Rusk, the only daughter of Secretary of State and Mrs. Dean Rusk, was married in the Stanford University chapel to Guy Gibson Smith, 22 years old, a Negro. Secretary and Mrs. Rusk attended the wedding. Mrs. Smith plans to continue her studies at Stanford. Her husband, a second lieutenant in the Air Force reserve, is awaiting orders to report for active duty and flying instructions.

During a speech to the National Press Club, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler warned members of Congress that they would be risking defeat in next fall's elections if they failed to vote for a tax increase and their failure to do so resulted in serious inflation. Fowler said the alternative to the administration's 10 per cent tax surcharge was "an economy in shambles."

The Rev. James E. Groppi, the Roman Catholic priest who led the militant open housing movement in Milwaukee, said he had urged President Johnson's riot investigation panel to recommend cutting off all federal funds to Milwaukee and other cities "which are still promoting segregation."

THE WORLD

Chief United States delegate Arthur J. ## 500 Barbershoppers, 300 Wives are Coming to Town

There must be almost two dozen barber shops in town—not nearly enough to handle the crowd of barbershoppers and their wives coming to town today for the Seneca Land District Barbershopper convention and competition.

But that's all right. Barber shop harmony may have started out as a kind of "music to get your hair cut by," but thanks to the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America (SPEBSQSA) this form of vocalizing has made the big time and quartets and choruses now play to audiences of thousands.

That's much too big a following to squeeze into even a three-chair tonsorial parlor. These days any connection with the aroma of talc and bay rum is purely coincidental.

With 500 singers and 300 wives descending on Warren for the three-day convention it might be expected that barbershoppers will take the liberty of filling available motel accommodations and some extra beds in private homes. They are also taking the liberty of changing the names of some streets. For example, Pennsylvania ave. will be renamed Harmony Lane and Fifth ave. to Warren Area High School will be christened Pitch Pipe Alley.

The convention will start with registration at the American Legion at 5 p.m. today, to be followed at 8 p.m. with a house of delegates meeting at the Penn Laurel Motel.

The competition gets under way at 9 a.m. Saturday at WAHS among 15 quartets from the District, which stretches from Massena and Watertown, N. Y., through northwest Pennsylvania.

At 1 p.m. 13 choruses will take part in the preliminary chorus competition at the high school.

The final competition and show will be at the high school tomorrow at 8 p.m.

To keep the wives busy, a ladies' style show has been arranged in the hospitality room of the Northwest Savings and Loan building tonight at 8:30, and a luncheon tomorrow at the Three Flags Inn.

The public is invited to attend the Saturday competitions, but publicity director Al Laufenberg said seating at the evening competition and show will be at a premium and tickets will be available at the high school on a first-come first-served basis.

The convention will wind up Sunday morning with a quartet critique at the American Legion Home.

Warren barbershoppers, the host chapter of SPEBSQSA, also have planned evening social activities and an afterglow for those attending the convention.

'Obstructionism' Charged by Shafer

By JOHN L. TAYLOR
HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer charged Democrats in the General Assembly with obstructionism yesterday for their refusal to support his $285 million tax program.

The governor told a news conference that the minority party must assume "the major share of the blame" for the legislature's failure to enact a revenue program to finance the state's needs.

"This obstructionism has carried them to a point where they are opposing taxes for programs that they supported in their own party platform last year," Shafer said.

Democrats in both House and Senate have maintained that the administration is trying to overtax the people to finance a budget, which they say can be cut.

The Democrats have not come up with any meaningful cuts," Shafer said.

The governor gave newsmen copies of a letter he said he sent to former state senator Paul Wagner of Pottsville, chairman of the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency.

The letter, an obvious attempt to spur the Senate into approving at least a portion of the tax program, warned that some 40,000 college students were in danger of not receiving promised scholarships.

Guevara Commands Guerillas In Bolivia

By JUAN DE ONIS
(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—Bolivia has captured photographs and documents that show Ernesto Che Guevara in the role of field commander of Cuban-backed guerrilla operations in Bolivia. "Guevara has been the head, heart and soul of the Bolivian guerrilla operation, and he is now on the run," an informed source said.

The photographs, combat orders, financial records, and personal diaries were reportedly found by the Bolivian army in a cache near a guerrilla encampment in the Bolivian jungle. They will be presented here today to the inter-American conference of foreign ministers.

Foreign Minister Walter Guevara Arze of Bolivia will make the presentation at the meeting, which has been called to consider Cuban support for revolutionary movements in the western hemisphere at the request of Venezuela.

Guevara, a 40-year-old Argentine, became one of the leading figures of the Cuban revolution under Premier Fidel Castro. His whereabouts have been a mystery since March, 1965. Guevara was reported to have been killed in the Dominican Republic while fighting with the rebels there in April, 1965, against United States forces. Subsequently, Castro and other Cuban leaders indicated that Guevara was conducting revolutionary activities "somewhere in Latin America."

According to the captured documents, Guevara was in Bolivian territory last April organizing a guerrilla force that rose to about 120 men, including at least six Cuban army officers.

750,000 Texans Surrounded by Massive Floods

by GARTH JONES
CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Massive floods from rains of almost 30 inches deposited by Hurricane Beulah's dying throes surrounded at least three quarters of a million persons in South Texas last night. Officials counted 56 tornadoes kicked off by the massive, slowly dying storm and predicted more.

One rain gauge in Victoria reported 29 inches. The official Weather Bureau gauge in the flood-isolated town got 18.85 inches and the deluge continued.

The rains flooded every river, creek and ditch in the South Texas flatlands, made streams of highways and lakes of fields and spread into countless cities and towns.

Heavy rains and flooding encompassed an area of about 40,000 square miles in the rough triangle from the Gulf of Mexico above Victoria 360 miles west to Del Rio on the Rio Grande and 200 miles south from that line to Brownsville. That area is a little larger than the state of Indiana.

Flooding was heavy enough to isolate 750,000 people—about one twelfth of the state's population—in cities and towns in the eastern half of the storm area.

U.S. 77, the main highway through the Rio Grande Valley, was hub-capped deep in water for long stretches. In the Valley's cities flood water lapped over street curbs and in low sections covered parked cars to the tops of their doors.

South Texas already had taken an estimated half-billion dollar blow from Beulah, a once mighty hurricane downgraded to a tropical storm.

Tornadoes roamed the areas already wracked by flooding and Beulah's 160-mile an hour winds. The twisters made inroads into the northern half of the state.

Secretary of State Gives Daughter's Hand to Negro

(From our wire services)
STANFORD, Calif. — Secretary of State Dean Rusk gave his blonde 18-year-old daughter in marriage to a Negro yesterday in a quiet family ceremony in the chapel of the Stanford University Memorial Church.

Parents of both the bride and groom attended the wedding. Secretary Rusk escorted the bride to the altar.

The bride was Margaret Elizabeth Rusk, a second-year student at Stanford.

The bridegroom was Guy Gibson Smith, 22, a June graduate of Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.

He has been employed since his graduation as a data processor with a private contractor the Ames Research Center, a national space agency division in nearby Sunnyvale. Robert Ades, his supervisor at Ames, described Smith as "a quiet, good worker."

The bride, a personable girl of medium height, recently completed the summer quarter at Stanford.

After a honeymoon at an undisclosed spot, she plans to resume her studies.

Relatives said the young couple met in Washington about three years ago and the romance flowered during horseback rides in Washington parks.

The bridegroom is a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve, awaiting orders to report for flying instruction. A family spokesman indicated it was probable he would be taught to fly helicopters, then ordered to Viet Nam duty.

His father, Clarence L. Smith,

Shafer Says He Takes No Stand on School Aid Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer said yesterday he has not taken a stand on a House bill that would provide $27 million annually in state aid to private and parochial schools.

He said he considered the bill a legislative matter — one that he hoped would be put aside until the other fiscal needs of the commonwealth had been provided through enactment of a tax program.

"I am in favor of the commonwealth helping all students whether they attend public or nonpublic schools within the framework of our government,"

At Freeport, Tex., the body of Bridgette Laverne Anthony, 15, the first victim in Texas of Beulah, was found some 50 feet from the water's edge at a beach. The girl was drowned early Tuesday while surfing in Beulah's massive waves of Freeport.

The toll of death remained amazingly low. Only six persons died in Texas. Twenty-four were killed in Mexico and the Caribbean during the 12 days Beulah rampaged as a full-fledged hurricane.

Tiny Cuero, a town some 30 miles northwest of Victoria near the Texas coast, had an unofficial total of 25 inches of rain. The official figure for the 48 hours ending at 7 p.m. CDT Thursday was 18.85 inches and the rains continued.

The Guadalupe River near Cuero was 10 feet over flood stage. Telephone service was out to vast areas. Refugees huddled in flood isolated shelters.

Officials in Cuero put out a request that all persons thinking about coming there stay away from the city and surrounding Dewitt county. Floodwaters covered the entire town, a small city of some 7,000. U.S. 87 was closed between Dewitt and Gonzales Counties.

Damage reports continued to pour in and the havoc continued. Rain-swollen irrigation ditches isolated entire cities, carrying chunks of oranges and crops that form the lifeblood of the hard-hit Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Beulah's center moved toward Laredo, Tex., early in the evening, still bearing 50 mile-an-hour winds and ponderous rains.

A Department of Public Safety report from the Valley said the area's multimillion-dollar tomato crops were "wiped out." Citrus damage was heavy, so heavy that the state agriculture commissioner estimated the loss at $50 million.

Gov. John B. Connally said he would fly to the Valley with a blue-ribbon group of state officials to try to look at the situation, weather permitting. He said he anticipated asking President Johnson — whose own Texas ranch in the central section of the state was cut off by floodwaters — to declare the hurricane zone a disaster area.

"Beyond any question, damages to all kinds of property—public and private—are going to run far in excess of what we originally anticipated," Connally told a news conference in Austin.

Connally said he hoped to meet with his Mexican counterparts from across the Rio Grande. Damage in Mexico's Tamaulipas State was reported extensive, also.

Strike Cuts Attendance At Expo 67

MONTREAL (AP) — Montrealers struggled to their jobs despite a sudden strike by bus and subway employees yesterday but the walkout, along with rain and strong winds, cut deeply into attendance at Expo 67.

Montreal's second public transportation strike in about two years left Canada's largest city—with one million people—in an immense snarl. Some persons who thought they lived 35 minutes from their offices said they spent two hours getting to work.

dent of any sort.

About 50 persons attended the wedding. The guests seemed either family friends of the Rusk or school friends of the bride. Except for the parents of the bridegroom, there were no Negroes among the witnesses to the ceremony.

Despite its extreme privacy, the wedding was performed in traditional fashion.

The Georgia-born Secretary of State and other male members of the party were formally clad.

After the wedding, Smith emerged with his bride on his right arm, the picture of confidence and pride. Photographers blocked the way, and at their request, Smith kissed his bride on the cheek. A photographer laughingly asked for "another—I dropped my negatives" and Smith complied. Then he asked "Didn't anyone else drop his negative?"

The bridal couple was then whisked away by limousine. A private reception was scheduled for the afternoon at the home of friends in nearby Los Altos.

The ceremony was performed by B. Davis Napier, dean of the chapel.

Jamestown's Mayor Replies to Charges

JAMESTOWN, N. Y.—Jamestown Mayor Fred H. Dunn officially opened his re-election campaign yesterday by striking back hard at Republican campaign charges.

The Democratic mayor, speaking at a meeting of the League of Women Voters, said "The Republicans are using the same old wornout issues they used two years ago and are offering absolutely nothing new."

The GOP charges to date have included the proposed new city hall, council bickering, and the accomplishments of the Dunn administration.

Haiphong Hit Again By Bombers

By GEORGE ESPER
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy bombers pounded Haiphong yesterday in the third raid inside North Vietnam's major port city in five days.

The Navy jets, launched from carriers 100 miles away in the Gulf of Tonkin, struck at targets they had attacked Sunday and again Monday—a rail-highway bridge a mile from the center of the city and a highway bridge 1.7 miles from the city's heart.

The objective was to seal off main supply routes in and out of the port and clog Haiphong with supplies brought by sea from Russia and other countries.

U.S. headquarters made no mention of any planes lost in yesterday's raids. The North Vietnamese News Agency claimed seven American planes were shot down.

In other aspects of the air war, Navy pilots also struck 28 miles east of Haiphong and reported destroying a storage building and damaging a camouflaged boat.

The ground war continued to be concentrated in northern South Vietnam.

Guarneri String Quartet

Classical Quartet Booked For Third Show of Season

The Warren Concert Association has booked the Guarneri String Quartet as the third attraction of the coming music season, according to Harry A. Summers, president.

The selection was made yesterday afternoon at concert headquarters, where the membership enrollment reached 940 toward the goal of 1,024, capacity of the high school auditorium.

Already booked are Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians and the Reyes Soler Ballet Espagnol de Madrid. A fourth concert is still to be chosen.

A concert membership campaign ends tonight at 9 p.m. and workers who still have reports have been asked to bring them to headquarters during the day. Membership cards will be mailed next week.

The Guarneri String Quartet, since their New York City debut in 1965, have established themselves as popular and praised.

"The group's tone is like satin. The vibrato is warm and matched. The rhythm is solid, the intonation is exemplary and the sense of style masterly," said a New York Times review.

Their tours of over 100 concerts per season have taken the quartet to cities and to colleges all over the U.S. and Canada; to the Festival of Two Worlds at Spoleto, the Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood, the Mozart Festivals at Lincoln Center and to the British Isle, Germany, Austria and Holland.

The Guarneri Quartet records for RCA-Victor to date, three best selling albums have been issued, with more to be released during the season.

Suez Incident Costliest

In Two Months

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
JERUSALEM—Four Israeli soldiers were killed and six wounded yesterday morning in the costliest shooting incident across the Suez canal in two months.

According to an Israeli communique, the Egyptians opened fire first with light weapons, then with tanks and recoilless rifles and finally with heavy artillery.

Army sources said they believed the attack came in response to Wednesday's incident, in which three Egyptian launches carrying soldiers were sunk near the southern mouth of the canal. The Egyptians did not return fire Wednesday.

"This seems clearly to be a case of tit for tat," said a source in the Israeli foreign ministry. "We expected some sort of reprisal after yesterday and we expect more after this."

Truck Firms Send Convoys With Guards

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pennsylvania and Ohio police beefed up patrols yesterday in the wake of eight new shootings and rock tossing triggered by an eight-state strike by independent steel haulers.

Trucking companies hired armed guards and sent their rigs out in convoys. Some truck ers packed their own weapons. Pennsylvania Turnpike police said one trucker cut loose with a shotgun after men threw rocks at his truck near Somerset. No charges were filed. No injuries were reported, but police said eight trucks were fired on in Ohio and two others waylaid with rocks on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Rusk Was Ready to Quit over Marriage

By MARJORIE HUNTER
(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Dean Rusk, a Georgian who once said he had developed "an elementary liberalism" on racial matters in his youth, was prepared to resign if his daughter's interracial marriage embarrassed the Johnson administration politically. President Johnson apparently regarded the resignation offer as a formal courtesy by a cabinet officer to the President, and gave it no serious consideration. It was understood by observers here.

The Rusk family first learned some months ago that their only daughter intended to marry Guy Gibson Smith, a Negro. The two young people had known each other for several years.

David Rusk, the bride's older brother, said yesterday that so far as he knew, his parents raised no objection to the marriage.

"There was never any racism around our home," said Rusk, now associate director of the Washington chapter of the Urban League, a national interracial organization.

The younger Rusk said that he and his wife were "delighted and wish Peggy and her husband every happiness."

"We think they'll have a very happy life,"

The Secretary of State has been a long-time critic of racial discrimination.

In 1941, while serving in Washington as an Army intelligence officer, he met a young Negro, Ralph Bunche, who had just begun work in the Office of Strategic Services.

Captain Rusk suggested that Bunche accompany him to dinner at the officers' mess. When Bunche pointed out that the officers' mess had an unwritten rule barring Negroes, Rusk replied, "We'll change that rule right now."

They did, without incident.

One of Rusk's first actions as Secretary of State, in 1961, was to order vigorous action combating discriminatory housing practices for newly arrived African envoys.

In 1963, he went to Capitol Hill to testify in favor of a civil rights bill. During that hearing, when Senator Strom Thurmond said he doubted if laws would change individual attitudes on the racial question, Rusk observed:

"I am not pessimistic, senator, because so many of these individual attitudes turn on personal experience, personal discoveries about what relations can be, about situations where it becomes obvious that there can be good relations between peoples of different races and religions."

The Rusk family were said by friends to have been extremely proud when their son, David, chose to work with the Urban League after graduating from the University of California, in Berkeley.

Cancel Football Game Because of Racial Dispute

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — San Jose State College's opening football game has been cancelled because of threats to "burn down the stadium" in a racial dispute.

The threats came during an emotion-packed week of trying to meet a Friday deadline to solve charges of discrimination against the college's estimated 200 Negro students. The total enrollment is 22,500.

President Robert D. Clark emphasized the "danger is not from San Jose College students."

State Police Investigate Two Accidents

Thomas L. Patz, 32, R.D. 1, Russell, suffered minor injuries yesterday afternoon when his car collided with another auto near Blueberry Golf Club, state police reported. Trooper Edward Shaffer said the accident occurred when Patz crossed the center of the road on a curve and hit the side of a car operated by James M. Newton, 18, 1497 Scandia rd. Damage was set at $1,700.

Estimated damage was $600 in a two-car crash on Rt. 6 east of Clarendon about 6 p.m. State police said Mrs. Della E. Fink, 39, R.D. 2, Russell, backed out of a driveway into an eastbound vehicle operated by Mrs. Howard C. Morrison, 60, Brookston. Both drivers complained of pains. Trooper Daniel Portzer investigated.

Police Say Men Involved in Mishap Disappear

Borough police said they received a phone call last night from a man, identifying himself as Warren Hanson, 20 High st., Clarendon, who reported he had struck a man with his car and was on his way with the victim to Warren General Hospital. The victim was identified as a Mr. McDonald, 324 Water st., Warren. When police arrived at the hospital both men had disappeared, they said.

Blood Drive Falls Short of its Goal

A total of 89 pints of blood were donated when the bloodmobile visited Red Cross headquarters on Market st., yesterday. The day's efforts fell 29 pints short of an 118 pint goal. There were 12 rejects. Chapter officials said they wished to thank the donors who took the time to donate blood.

Congress Warned of 'Backlash'

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler warned members of Congress yesterday that they would risk voter backlash if they refused to vote for a tax increase.

Members of Congress who listen to "wholly normal but uninformed taxpayer reaction and vote against the tax increase" may later on face "a voter backlash," he told the National Press Club.

He said that the alternative to a tax increase was "an economy in shambles" and that the member of Congress who "reads only his current mail and ignores the economic indicators" will live to find this out.

Fowler did not predict the precise degree of inflation if the tax surcharge is not enacted.

If, however, the rate of inflation reaches 5½ per cent a year, as it did during the Korean war, he said, the average family would lose more from inflation than from the tax increase.

Fowler noted that the 10 per cent surcharge involves an increase of 10 per cent of the tax that would otherwise be paid, not 10 per cent of the taxpayer's income.

On the average, he said, the surtax would work out to about 1 per cent of a taxpayer's total income. But inflation such as that which occurred in the Korean war would reduce purchasing power by an average of 3 per cent, he said.

Fowler's warning to congress of the possible political folly of voting against a tax increase—which he said constituted "the height of presumption" for a "bureaucrat who has never run for office"—was delivered only an hour after the House Ways and Means committee met for the third successive day on the President's tax bill without taking any action on it whatever.

Shapp Files Suit For Utility Taxes

NORRISTOWN Pa. (AP) — Milton J. Shapp, former Democratic candidate for governor, has gone to court in a private war to increase taxes on utilities.

Shapp filed suit in Montgomery County Court here yesterday demanding the county and Lower Merion Township where he lives, levy real estate taxes on operating properties of utilities.

Currently only office buildings and other non-operating properties are taxed while such properties as generating plants, railroad rights of way and telephone switching equipment buildings are untaxed in Pennsylvania.

Shapp said he was attempting to carry out a promise he made during his unsuccessful gubernatorial campaign, last year.

"Pennsylvania is the only state in the nation that permits the wealthy, privately-owned utilities to avoid payment of their fair share of tax revenues needed by local governments and school districts," he said in a statement.

He charged that because operating properties are untaxed, he and other property holders must pay an unfair share of real estate taxes—a violation of the tax uniformity clause in the state Constitution.

He pointed out that there is no law that says utilities' operating properties cannot be taxed but only a 19th century court precedent.

Named in the suit as "special beneficiaries" of the present practices in Montgomery County are Philadelphia Electric Co., Pennsylvania Bell Telephone Co., Pennsylvania Railroad, Philadelphia Suburban Water Co., Reading Railroad and Philadelphia Transit Co.

Shapp said that while no accurate data on the value of untaxed land is available, an analysis shows that statewide as much as $125 to $200 million could be collected annually.

ON BOMBING PAUSE EFFECTS

Goldberg Challenges N. Viets

By CHARLES STORER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.
(AP) — U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg challenged Hanoi and its allies yesterday to state that meaningful negotiations would take place if the United States halted its bombing of North Vietnam. In a major address to the U.N. General Assembly, Goldberg reiterated that the United States was committed to a political, not a military solution in Vietnam.

But he added, "In fidelity to our commitment to a political solution we will not permit North Vietnam and its adherents to impose a military solution upon South Vietnam."

He noted that Hanoi had said publicly negotiations "could" take place if the bombing stopped. Other governments and Secretary General U Thant, he said, "have expressed their belief or assumption that negotiations 'would' begin" if the bombing stopped. But he added that "no such third party—including those governments which are among Hanoi's closest friends—has conveyed to us any authoritative message from Hanoi that there would in fact be negotiations if the bombing were stopped."

"We have sought such a message directly from Hanoi without success,"

Goldberg's 4,500-word speech also dealt with the tense Middle East, disarmament questions and African problems. But, in obvious recognition of the temper of the assembly, he devoted most of his attention to Vietnam.

One U.S. representative said the initial reaction to the speech was "good" and a "good expression of our position" on Vietnam.

But many delegates questioned by reporters said they had found nothing new in the speech. Others said the United States had taken a more conciliatory stand toward North Vietnam.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko declined to comment, as did French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

"Perhaps I will say something tomorrow in my speech," Gromyko said.

House Votes to Boost Educational TV Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted last night to boost federal support for non-commercial radio and television by creating a public broadcasting corporation to subsidize programming and help local stations combine into a network.

The legislation, already approved in slightly different form by the Senate, was passed by a roll-call vote of 265 to 91 after a Republican move to eliminate the corporation was defeated 194 to 167.

The measure authorizes $9 million to create the corporation and includes $38 million for federal construction grants to local educational stations over the next three years.

The corporation would be run by a 15-member board of directors, nine named by the President and confirmed by the Senate and six picked by those nine. Only eight could be members of the same political party.

The corporation would be forbidden from operating a network but could help educational stations form a network for specific programs, using existing means of transmission such as telephone lines, coaxial cables, microwaves and satellites.

Kinzua Country Has Been Busy

Kinzua Country—Warren County—has been fortunate this season if we stop and think for a moment. Not only have we been flooded with tourists and the outdoor pleasure seekers at our vast recreational facilities, but the area has played the role of "host" on many occasions.

Quickly off the cuff: the annual Jaycee Fourth of July celebration, the Shriners' district ceremonial, a large meeting of travel counselors from the American Automobile Association just last week. And there were many other smaller events such as the Boy Scouts' Order of the Arrow weekend.

And there is more to come. This weekend the Warren Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., will host the Seneca Land District convention over a three-day period.

On October 6 and 7 Sheffield—"The Sportsmen's Paradise in the Allegheny National Forest"—holds its Johnny Appleseed Festival with a list of activities planned. And on October 14 and 15 the downriver community of Tidioute will again sponsor the Pennsylvania State Fishing Tournament on the Allegheny River.

Yes, it has been a busy season for Warren County's Kinzua Country and for our benefit let's keep it that way.

Cracking The Whip

Pennsylvania News Service
HARRISBURG — Columnist's Notebook:

CRACKING THE WHIP—Shaffer Administration Republicans in control of the House of Representatives and the Senate aren't about to take much balking nonsense from GOP members in either the House or Senate if they can help it.

The point was illustrated in two recent instances—one in the House, the other in the Senate.

In the case of the House, Representative John S. Renninger, Bucks County Republican had been named vice-chairman of the House Insurance Committee when committee assignments were handed out earlier in the year. Chairman of the committee was Representative Rocco A. Odorisio, Delaware County Republican, who died however last April.

There was never any public announcement but an "addendum" subsequently issued by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives for the 1967 Pennsylvania Legislative Director contained this notation: "Delete Odorisio as Chairman and move Renninger from Vice Chairman to Chairman."

So far so good. Mr. Renninger, during his tenure as chairman impressed both sides of the aisle in the House with his hard-working ability. However he rejected the administration bill (referred to his Insurance Committee) on compulsory automobile insurance coverage. He also rejected the industry bill. He rewrote both bills into his own bill—which apparently trazzed the administration so much so in fact that last week Mr. Renninger found himself booted out as committee chairman and replaced by Representative Donald O. Bair, Allegheny County Republican, who was not a member of the committee in the first place, is not an insurance man and admitted on the floor of the House that he didn't "know anything" about insurance!

Now to the Senate where, when committee assignments were handed out initially, Senator Richard J. Green, Jr., Cambria County Republican, was named vice-chairman of the Senate Labor and Industry Committee. Upon the death in May of Senator Edwin C. Ewing, committee chairman, Mr. Green moved into the "acting chairmanship" of the committee—a post he held until recently when Senator Clyde R. Dengler, Montgomery County Republican was named chairman.

What happened to "acting chairman" Green? Well, instead of moving up to the full chairmanship, he reverted back to vice-chairman. Coincidentally, of course, Senator Green was one of two known Republican hold-outs on the Shaffer Administration's tax program! ONE FOR THE OAT-BURNERS—When it comes to horse racing, trotting the nags, etc., Pennsylvania unquestionably isn't among the top winners insofar as her neighboring states are concerned.

During the past year of 1966 for example, revenue to the state in the case of Pennsylvania amounted to $7,144,611, while Maryland garnered $12,196,639, Ohio $13,225,691, New Jersey $29,213,893, and New York $148,173,782. Even little Delaware almost nipped Pennsylvania on the income-to-thestate front, with a state take of $5,890,331.

Of course one of the big reasons for the small income in the case of the Keystone State revolves around the fact that it is the only one of the six that does not have thoroughbred racing—only harness racing.

As for attendance at these equestrian outings, the figure last year stood at 2,028,484 for Pennsylvania, 3,466,008 for Ohio, 16,554,444 for New York, 3,173,793 for New Jersey, 2,437,611 for Maryland and 1,637,360 for Delaware.

SAY AGAIN PLEASE?—A distasteful member of the House of Representatives chit-chatting with a fellow member the other day referred to the House Committee on Elections and Apportionment in slip-of-the-tongue mortification as "that Committee on Elections and Abortionment"... to which her colleague quickly quipped: "Sometimes I think that committee should indeed be aborted."

JIM BISHOP Sweet Adeline Cipher

We sat facing each other across the table with our elbows on top, like old cowboys who didn't want to be caught making a draw. Rudy had baby fat and tiny blue eyes. The hair was a wet bale of hay. He breathed deeply into the white shirt and the collar tabs lifted and fell.

Bishop

ten to the glass pump behind the bar. He was shy with men, and he never looked at a girl if she was looking at him.

The smell was musty and sweet, as though the malt had been rubbed in the furniture. Rudy dreamed small. "Get me a filling station with four pumps and a rack," he used to say, "and I'm home." He never got home. He drank too much beer and he became fat and slow at 20. The bartender, a skinny tube of acid with kidney stones, said Rudy was a Saturday night drunk.

Not an alcoholic. Just a Sweet Adeline cipher. He drew blanks and sobered up and did as he was told dumbly. No man had trouble with Rudy. Each one pointed him, and left him alone. He did a day's work, and his soggy sweater and dark stains even in the winter.

I hadn't seen Rudy for a year. More. Now he wanted to talk, and I sat with the elbows on the table watching the lute slant the legs of the table across the floor and up the base of the wall.

"I could be a good man around a service station," he said wistfully. "I even know transmissions and rear ends."

"You drink too much, kid," I said. He shook his head back and forth. "Too often, maybe," he said, as though establishing a point, "but not too much. I never get into fights."

"What am I here for?" I said. Rudy grinned that shy lefthander.

"Don't get mad," he said. "I wanted to talk." It was a waste. The sun splashed gold on the back of his knuckles, then red. He had big hard hands, and maybe, as he said, they were good for transmissions and rear ends. "I didn't hurt Ginny," he said.

I nodded absent-mindedly. No man concedes rape. A few will spot you a murder or two in conversation, but rape or hurting a child makes them wince for years. "Aw," he said, "what's the use?" I said I believed him. Rudy stared out the window at the deep red of the sun and the Concord grape blue of the Hudson River valley. "I was drunk," he said.

Men who drink blanks have a built-in alibi. He didn't remember. Some said that Ginny was a nice girl; others said she was a tramp. What did it matter? A tramp has a right to say no. She was a tubercular-looking girl with freckles, broomstick legs, and in her face, the bright wink of a star. She played men like men play cards.

With Rudy, she led with the ace of spades. She was trumped on the second date. He showed up loaded. They drove around town in the car and then he parked and got in the back seat with her. She understood the wrestling rules, but she was sure she could play the mouse who tamed Lemmy.

It was a cold night, and late workers heard their feet crunch on old rusty snow as they studied the parked car. It was quiet inside. Rudy was snoring through another blank. The pale blubber of his face puffed out and steam came from his open mouth.

He was alone. It was still dark when he awakened, looked around for Ginny, and cursed her for leaving him alone. The tired battery sobbed for a long time, and then the engine coughed, and Rudy was on his way home again. His knuckles were numb. So was his head.

Now he sat talking to me about a four-pump station and I was more patient than polite. I sat it out. He wasn't lying about Ginny. Now he had difficulty remembering what she looked like. She sat quietly behind the fog in his mind, behind a bullet he never heard.

The sun was down and now the table was slate blue. I stood and looked at my watch, and he stuck out his hand as though he was apologetic for talking so much. I wished him the best of nothing and went out and hopped into the car just as the street lights went on.

That night they came to his cell and he died on time, sweating a little. I remembered that he used to drive the hearse with bodies down to the Ossining railroad station. Tomorrow, there would be a new driver.

Absenteeism on Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON—The average American takes one vacation a year for about two weeks. The Senate and House of Representatives, however, have already taken three vacations this year—Easter, July 4 and Labor Day; plus two long weekends, Memorial Day and Lincoln's Birthday.

In addition to this, numerous members from the Eastern area—notably New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New England—belong to the "Tuesday-Thursday Club," working only three days each week and staying away from Washington the rest of the time. Frequently they are busy taking care of law clients at home.

This has not helped the efficiency of Congress. In fact it has added to one of the worst legislative records in this decade.

One illustration is the Appalachia relief bill to help the mountain area extending along the range of the Appalachian Mountains from New York to Alabama, an area neglected for more than a century, where the illiteracy rate is higher than in the New York slums and where roads and communication have been so poor that the English dialects of 200 years ago can still be found. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt started to help this area 30 years ago. The war intervened and real help never got under way until President Johnson inaugurated his Appalachian program.

When the bill came up in the House, already trimmed down by the House Public Works Committee to $220 million over a two-year period, Rep. William "Clean Sheets" Cramer, R-Fla., offered an amendment cutting an additional $50 million.

Cramer comes from a beautiful resort area in western Florida easily accessible by federally financed highways which have not yet been built to Appalachia; and he personally has benefited from a neat arrangement whereby the manager of his laundry company, Jack Inco, is on the federal Congressional payroll for $10,189 a year at the same time Cramer's firm has an $80,000 laundry contract with MacDill Air Force Base. Thus Cramer makes money from the government at the same time he pays his laundry manager out of government funds; also has kept a local printer, Carol S. Baron, on his office payroll so the U.S. taxpayers can pay his printing bill.

The Congressman from west Florida who benefited from federal funds was opposed, however, to a health and vocational training program for poor mountaineers plus the restoration of old mining areas in the ridges of the Appalachians.

And thanks to a whopping number of 72 absentees, including 45 Democrats, his ripper amendment passed. Some of those recorded as not voting were actually in the corridors and cloak rooms of Congress and didn't bother to vote. Most, however, were enjoying extended Labor Day vacations. They had already taken ten days off at Labor Day, but seemed to feel they were entitled to a few days more.

Since this was an administration bill, and Democratic Congressmen were more obligated than Republicans to be on hand to vote, here is the roll call of Democrats who either stayed at home or at the bathing beaches or enjoyed life at mountain resorts when they were supposed to be on the House floor earning their salaries:

Wayne Aspinall, Colo., and Walter Baring, Nev., both of whom vote for big federally-financed grazing and forestry projects for the Far West; William Barrett, Pa., John Blatnik, Minn., John Brademas, Ind., George Brown, Calif., Earle Cabell, Tex.; Hugh Carey and Manny Celler, both of Brooklyn, who favor big city projects; Jeff Cohelan, Calif., Emilio Daddario, Conn., Eligio de la Garza, Tex., who wants plenty of aid for Spanish-Americans; Bryan Dorn, S.C., Don Edwards, Calif., Michael Feighan, Ohio, one of the champion junketeers; Dan Flood, Pa., John Flynt, Ga., Thomas Foley, Wash., George Gooding, Pa., Edith Green, Ore., who wants more money spent at Oregon Navy installations; Martha Griffiths, Mich., who wants to protect cattle and hogs from inhumane slaughter; Edward Hebert, La., W. R. Hull, Mo., John McMillan, S.C., George Miller, Calif., a big booster for funds for outer space; Wilbur Mills, Ark., Thomas Morris, N.M., and Abe Muller of Brooklyn, who wants to be a New York Supreme Court judge; James O'Hare, Mich., Maston O'Neal, Ga., W. R. Poage, Tex., Graham Purcell, Tex., Mendel Rivers, S.C., Dan Rostenkowski, Ill., Ferdinand S. Germain, R-L, John Slack, W. Va., Neal Smith, Iowa, Leonor Sullivan, Mo., Al Ullman, Ore., Lionel Van Deerlin, Calif., Joe Waggoner, La., Jerome Walde, Calif., Basil Whitener, N.C., whose district includes parts of Appalachia; Ed Willis, La., who put his nephew on the Un-American Activities Committee payroll; Charles Wilson, Calif., and Lester Wolf, N.Y., who votes for big city projects but was not around to vote for the mountaineers of Appalachia.

When the six British Labor members of Parliament entered the State Department to see Secretary Rusk the other day they were jolted by the sign "Solicitors Prohibited." Most of them were "solicitors"—the British term for attorneys. Calling at a home in Georgetown they knocked at the "Tradesmen's Entrance." This was appropriate, they said, because they were members of a British trade union.

They found Sen. Morton of Kentucky, former chairman of the Republican National Committee, to be very strong for peace, very much against the war in Vietnam. He cautioned that the President should not be under-estimated, that he was a very able, tough political leader.

They asked Secretary Rusk four questions, of which the most important was: "You have stated that no one really knows what's going on inside China. Why then do you consider there is no danger of Chinese intervention in the war in Vietnam?"

Rusk replied that there is a risk. War, he said, is a tough game. It's always dangerous. But he said that he considers bombing North Vietnam, even when close to the Chinese border, a better alternative than allowing the North Vietnamese to operate in these areas immune from attack.

Program: Ghetto, Inc.

WASHINGTON — A friend of mine has just thought of a way to raise a large sum of money for poverty-stricken areas without one cent's cost to the taxpayer. He calls his program Ghetto Inc., and this is his explanation of how it works.

"From now until the presidential elections in 1968," my friend said, "ghettos are going to be the big thing and every politician running for public office is going to have to visit one. But most politicians don't know where to begin when it comes to touring the slums, and so Ghetto Inc. will make all the arrangements for them, for a fee, of course."

"What will you do?" "Well, let us suppose the person wishing to tour a ghetto area is one of the many thousands of presidential candidates who feels obligated to walk through a depressed area. Ghetto Inc. would make out an itinerary for him. First, we'd have him visit a rat-infested tenement where he could be visibly shocked."

"Then we'd take him over to meet the parish priest who has just coached a Little League team of deprived youngsters to a city championship. After that we'd have him talk to an ex-convict who has gone straight and become a Good Humor man."

"Finally, we would arrange an interview with an unwed mother who has just lost her welfare payments. The candidate could or could not promise the woman he'd do something about it, depending on how he thinks the country feels at the time about unwed mothers."

"It sounds like a great service," I said. "How much does it cost?"

"Well, that's just a simple tour, and with transportation and including the ex-convict and Good Humor truck, we charge $1,500."

"That's not expensive," I said. "Of course, Ghetto Inc. has more luxurious tours. We can arrange for a candidate to walk through a garbage dump, have him photographed with a group of striking schoolteachers, let him cut the ribbon for a new playground and then lay the cornerstone for a low-cost housing development. The charge for this would be $10,000, and we'd supply the striking schoolteachers."

"You must be swamped with business," I said. "Well, it's picking up nicely," my friend said. "Of course, the beauty of Ghetto Inc. is that we can service all candidates whether they're for or against the poverty program."

"How's that?" "Suppose you have a candidate who is against welfare, opposed to coddling the poor and feels everyone should lift himself up by his own bootstraps."

"I know one," I said. "Well, for $25,000 we'll arrange a tour for him which will include having rotten vegetables and eggs thrown at him, having paint spilled on his car and, if he requests it, having the press roughed up. This will get him the sympathy of the backlash crowd, which he is appealing to in the first place."

"I could see a candidate asking for that kind of treatment, but where do you find the people to throw the rotten eggs and vegetables?"

The Song Of Autumn

Summer has passed, and magnificent autumn is upon us. Already the Virginia creeper flaunts its brilliant scarlet leaves as a prelude to the flaming color that will soon sweep across the woodland. Other signal fires are lighted by the crimson sumach leaves along the road-sides.

The autumn mists temper the brilliance of the harvest moon that journeys across the sky in a lazy arc like some phantom ship lost in the immensity of a boundless sea.

Step outdoors at night away from man-made sounds and you are greeted by a strident chorus of insects that are content to pass their remaining time on earth filling the night air with music before the killer frosts come.

Leading the orchestra are the crickets with musical instruments built into their wing-covers. These tiny instruments consist of files and scrapers which rasp against one another setting the wing-covers into vibration to produce the delightful song of the cricket.

A single cricket can send its piercing notes all through a two-story house. Tens of thousands of them playing outdoors can fill the night air with a pulsating sound as loud and persistent as the distant roar of the surf.

Late summer flowers still brighten gardens with their brilliant colors, and winter seems as far away as the glaciers of Antarctica.

But I realize that time is running out for the flowers in our garden, and I am as solicitous toward them as I would be toward a loved one over whom the shadow of death was hovering. Nature's precise time schedule cannot be altered, and I know that these flowers will soon be doomed.

I still marvel that a patch of sterile, lumpy, stony clay soil can bring forth such beauty. In the cool of the morning, when the throbbing music of the night insects is silenced, I walk in our garden. I stoop to examine the pink and yellow snapdragon blossoms that cling like miniature gargoyles to stems as straight as flagpoles. The pouty lips, which only the heavy-bodied bumblebee in search of nectar can force open, are cooled with dew. I press the sides of a blossom and the lips part to reveal the marvelously intricate inner structure with its slender yellow-tipped stamens lying in grooves on the lower lip.

The giant zinnias flaunting red, scarlet, yellow, crimson, and pink blossoms have the "welcome mat" out for all manner of insect guests. The honey bee, bumblebee, and the swallowtail butterfly all alight on these sturdy flowers and gather sweet nectar.

Downslope from the zinnias the bachelor buttons blossom in such profusion that their pink, white, red, blue, and purple flowers form a tapestry that no mortal fingers could ever weave.

The asters, that seemed as though they would bloom forever, are withered and dying. They warn of the fate that awaits the other cultivated flowers.

The garden, that I had no faith in at the start, has now become very precious to me as summer changes into autumn. But I know that, as our flowers fade, a new beauty will fill the landscape about me. The autumn foliage will flaunt as many shades of color as our garden of flowers.

Professor Charges Viet Voting Fraud

By HEDRICK SMITH

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—An academic specialist in Asian affairs who observed the Vietnamese presidential election charged yesterday that there was "extensive fraud" on election day involving up to 500,000 votes.
He challenged the finding of the White House observer team that the election was generally fair, asserting that the observers were so occupied with official tours and briefings that they were "shielded" from talking with enough Vietnamese citizens to form an accurate picture of the voting.

These allegations were presented at a news conference by David Wurfel, associate professor of political science at the University of Missouri and chairman of its Asian affairs committee. He has lived seven years in Asia—Singapore, Japan and the Philippines—and has observed four Philippine elections.

Wurfel, an acknowledged critic of Washington's Vietnam policy, offered several items of "documentary" or eyewitness proof of election malpractices to support his charges. He said he had gathered the material while in Vietnam from Aug. 14 to Sept. 10. It was his sixth trip to Vietnam.

His trip to observe the South Vietnamese elections was sponsored by four private organizations critical of U.S. policy on Vietnam: the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, the Unitarian Universalist
Association, American Friends
Committee on National Legislation and the Methodist Division of Peace and World Order.

Wurfel said his findings were based on personal observations and inspection of election records in Gladinh Province, surrounding Saigon, and "dozens" of interviews there and in Quangnam Province on the central Vietnamese coast and at Mytho and Cantho in the Mekong
Delta with government officials, opposition candidates, youth leaders and poll watchers.

Police Demand
More Pay in Washington, Pa.

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) —
One-quarter of Washington's police force has threatened to resign if their wage demands aren't met.

Dissident policemen said yesterday that poor leadership and low salaries have caused dissension and low morale in the town's 31-man police force.
They asked town council to act immediately on their demands. Council members had no comment.

The police are asking for a $1,500 increase in starting pay with increments. They now get $4,500 to start.

Saigon Newspaper Gets Suspension

BY TOM BUCKLEY

SAIGON — A Saigon newspaper was suspended yesterday for one month, apparently "for having insulted the government."

No official reason was given for the suspension.

The newspaper, Bao (Times), has been regarded as moderately pro-government, but oc-asionally it has expressed its views in mildly satirical terms.

In a recent issue Bao suggested that the government "borrow" the United States Supreme Court for the swearing-in of the vice president-elect, Lt.
Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky.

The article referred to the fact that under the constitution the supreme court must witness the inauguration, but that it will not have been chosen by the time, probably late next month when the ceremony takes place.

Two other Saigon newspapers,
Than Chung (Golden Bell) and Sang (Dawn), were suspended indefinitely on Sept. 2, the day before the election. The English-language Saigon Guardian was suspended last December and has not been permitted to resume publication.

In August press censorship, which went into effect on April 1, was lifted to permit the free discussion of campaign issues.
It has not been reimposed, but the government has reserved the right, which it exercised yesterday, to take action against newspapers that offended it.

In other developments, Truong Dinh Dzu, who finished second in the presidential election and Phan Khac Suu, speaker of the national assembly who finished third, announced that they had sent a letter to the U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker demanding that "the United States government stop interfering in Viet Nam's internal affairs with a view to legitimizing the fraudulent anti-democrat election of Sept. 3."

The embassy had no comment on the letter, which offered no instances of the alleged interference.

Thais Arrive for Service in Vietnam

BY BERNARD WEINRAUB

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
SAIGON — As a welcome band played off-key during a soft drizzle, Colonel Saman Yuttasaph-rasit debarked yesterday and waved a greeting to Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

"Welcome to Viet Nam," said
General Westmoreland, the American commander, shaking the colonel's hand. "We're delighted to have you here."

Behind the colonel, 1,200 flakjacketed volunteers of the Royal Thai Army Queen's Cobra Regiment quickstepped off the U.S.
Attack Transport Navarro. The troops immediately boarded trucks for their barracks at the headquarters of the U.S. ninth division at Camp Bearcat, 20 miles east of Saigon.

"We need them there," said
the general, watching the Thai troops move down the gangway.

Within the last two months an advance party of 400 Thai engineers have built wooden barracks and set up defense positions for the regiments' base.

By next week, when the remainder of the combat troops arrive, the Thais will have 2, 500 ground troops in South Viet Nam.

For the last two years the Thais have also had about 300 sailors working along the coast of Viet Nam while the Thai air force has had about 50 men and two C-123 transports.

"Our aim in doing this is simple," said the Thai ambassador, Maj. Gen. Ban Cha Mine-trakietia. "We want to unite with other nations in the collective effort against Communism."

As he spoke, a Vietnamese navy band on the military transport terminal north of Saigon
played "Colonel Bogey's March" and a petite Vietnamese actress, Miss Pham Mai, placed a garland of roses and carnations around the neck of Colonel Yuttasaphrasit, whose rank is the equivalent of a brigadier general.

Buy Your GAS Air Conditioner NOW...

Buy Today—Pay in May

BUY NOW... There's no time like the present to buy a Gas Air Conditioner for your home! Installation? Now, of course!
And promptly, since installers no longer are as busy as they were during the summer.

BUY NOW... There's still no down payment! As little as $14 a month buys and installs a Gas air conditioner in your home. And even that small monthly payment is deferred until after May 1, 1968!

BUY NOW... And be all set for the warm fall days ahead. Sure, it's September... but remember the 85 and plus days after September 1st last year, and the year before that, and every fall. Air conditioning feels mighty good when fall temperatures climb!

BUY NOW... Why delay another day? Call your Gas Company and tell them you want a no-payment-until-May Gas air conditioner. Why not do it today?

Penelec Receives Top Safety Award

Pennsylvania Electric Company received the top safety award today among the State's 18 investor-owned electric companies at the 60th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Electric Association in Philadelphia.

Penelec received a bronze plaque for achieving the lowest accident frequency rate—1.18 — among member companies which worked more than one million manhours during the year. The mark was the best among the safety contestants for the period, which extended from July 1, 1966, through June 30, 1967.

This year's award marked the seventh time Penelec has received the highest safety award presented by the PEA, and it's the fifth time since 1960.

As a group, PEA members scored an accident frequency rate of 2.85 per million man-hours for the year, while all utilities throughout the country scored a rate of 5.36.

Penelec was also one of four utilities receiving certificates for working one million man-hours consecutively without a disabling injury.

The safety contest is sponsored annually by the PEA Accident Prevention Committee.

Association President Ralph R. Parkman presented awards to seven of Pennsylvania's electric companies at the meeting.

MERCURY MONTEGO MX

This is the new Mercury Montego MX two-color hardtop. Described as the lowest priced luxury car in the entire Mercury family for 1968, the Montego offers full six-passenger comfort. Passenger car length is 206 inches and the wheelbase 116 inches.

IN LINCOLN-MERCURY FAMILY

1968 Cars to Be Safest Ever

Lincoln-Mercury's family of 1968 cars will be the safest ever offered by the division.

All model lines—including the new Mercury Montego—will incorporate an expanded group of standard Ford Motor Company Lifeguard Design Safety Features, according to E. F. (Gar) Laux, vice president and division general manager.

An energy-absorbing steering column and steering wheel designed to collapse upon severe impact is among the list of new safety features. Additional protection is provided by the steering wheel which is equipped with a broad, deep-foam elongated center pad.

All two-door models have self-locking folding seat backs which prevent the front seat from pitching forward in a sudden stop. Extra padding is added to the upper back of the front seat affording protection to rear-seat passengers. The back of the second seat on station wagons with a third seat also is padded.

Front and rear seat belts are standard on all vehicles. Two front seat shoulder belts with convenient storage clips also are standard on all models, except convertibles.

All belt buckles have push button releases for easy operation, less bulk and neat appearance. Outboard deluxe belts offer a retractor device which stores the belts when not in use and a reminder light to buckle up.

Other new standard safety features include:

Vehicle side markers—lights on the side of front fenders and reflector plaques or lights at the rear define the side of the car at night.

Inside day/night yield-away, windshield-mounted rearview mirror encased in molded plastic to minimize shatter.

Broad safety-designed armrests and safety-designed squeeze-type door handles recessed deeply in the armrests to reduce the chance of accidental openings. They are standard on all Lincoln-Mercury car lines except Cougar, which has safety-designed folding paddle-type door handles.

Safety-designed coat hooks, window regulator knobs, radio control push buttons and sun visor clips.

In addition, all 1968 Lincoln-

Mercury vehicles are equipped with Thermactor (air pump) or Imco (Improved Combustion) exhaust emission control systems and a closed crankcase ventilation system to reduce substantially the emission of hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide gases from the cars.

Steele-ing The Sports Scene

Help!

Help, "Mr. W." wherever you are!

For the uninformed, "Mr. W." was the by-line used by a local sportsman-fan who formerly predicted the results of area football games for The Times-Mirror.

He wasn't much more successful in his prognostications than this writer, but at least he could hide behind his cloak of anonymity when he had a bad week—which was often.

With 13 out of 20 correct picks last week, our average improved, but it still hovers well below the .750 mark that is considered passable among that strange breed of men that choose to make a profession by picking the winners in athletic contests.

Of the county teams, only Eisenhower proved we didn't know what we were talking about, but—happily—we were right when we picked Youngsville to win and—mournfully—also correct in assuming Warren and Sheffield would fall.

Even though we picked Franklin to drop the Dragons, the game must go as our biggest miss because of the score.

Bradford whipped Erie Tech, 25-7, which rates as the closest pick. (We said 27-13.)

Oil City continues to shake our confidence in pre-season scouting reports, as the Oilers lost again, this time to Corry without Denny Harrison. (We predicted Oil City 14, Corry 6 if the Beaver quarterback didn't play and 20-14 if he did, which he didn't and Corry won anyway, 27-20.)

Other games that hurt were Wattsburg's 14-13 upset of General McLane and Erie Academy's 19-6 victory over Strong Vincent. Also missed were Fredonia-Silver Creek (6-0), Ft. LeBeauf-Iroquois (19-13) and Elk County-Johnsonburg (20-19).

So, with the hope of improving on a 19-11, .633 mark, here's what we see this weekend:

Warren 20, Titusville 19

The Rockets are 2-0 and always tough against the Dragons, but the Blue and White should have all the mistakes out of their system by this game. Stopping the passing of Gene McNamara will be the big job, but the Dragons should be able to maintain ball control and pull it out.

St. Marys 27, Sheffield 13

The Dutchmen are at least as good a ballclub as Port Allegany, easy winners over the Wolverines last week, and unless the Orange and Black's offense improves it could be another rout. Sheffield will have to stop trigger-quick halfback Vic Gregori and block a little better on punts. Hope we're wrong on this one.

Youngsville 21, Johnsonburg 14

If Gary Wood's on again, it could be no contest. The Rams, 0-2, nearly pulled it off against Elk County last week and will be hungry, but the Eagles are improving both offensively and defensively and should be confident after last Saturday's rout of Cambridge Springs. Wood might be due for a bad day, but the Red and White's running attack should take up the slack.

Eisenhower 14, Maple Grove 6

The Knights blew one last Friday and should bounce back this weekend. Playing before the hometown crowd will definitely help. Maple Grove was blanked in its opener by Falconer, 26-0 and, despite 11 returning lettermen, shouldn't be on a par with the Knights. We may have been too conservative in picking this one.

Corry 20, Strong Vincent 7

After last Friday's showing, we can't go against the Beavers in this one. Denny Harrison's back, giving the Beavers a psychological lift, and The Colonels, who lost to Academy last week, aren't a representative Erie ballclub.

Ridgway 30, Brockway 14

The battle of two unbeaten clubs, but this is Ridgway's year and the Rovers, who have whipped Townville and a good Union Joint team, won't stand it their way.

Jamestown 28, Dunkirk 7

The Raiders have it again this season and will be after an impressive showing in their first outing. The Dragons' arch-rival have size, speed and depth. Remember the name of John Messina, 160-pound Raider halfback, you'll be hearing it a lot this year.

Other Games:

Franklin 39, Meadville 0
Grove City 14, Oil City 7

County Grid Teams All Home Tomorrow

All four Warren County high school football teams play tomorrow at home, making tonight a little dull, but adding up to lots of excitement around local gridirons tomorrow.

Warren, Sheffield and Eisenhower all play their home openers and Youngsville is on its own grid for the second weekend in a row.

The Dragons host an unbeaten and highly-ranked Titusville eleven at 2:30 at War Memorial Field. Kickoff time for the other three games is 1:30. St. Marys is at Sheffield, Maple Grove, N.Y., is on the Eisenhower grid and Youngsville will entertain Johnsonburg.

Warren and Youngsville both go into their respective contests with 1-1 records and Eisenhower and Sheffield will be looking for their first victory of the young season.

The Dragons will also be playing before members of the 1915, 1916, and 1917 squads and the question around Warren is: can the Blue and White come back from the 46-0 romp at the hands of Franklin?

(Editor's note: A special feature of the WHS reunion teams will appear in tomorrow's edition.)

Titusville coached by Bucky Crabb, has easily handled Oil City (33-0) and Townville (19-0) and would like to make the Dragons victim number three.

The Rockets are led by 6-foot-1, 175-pounder quarterback Gene Franklin.

McNamara, who likes to put the ball in the air and is deadly accurate. The junior signal caller hit on seven of fourteen aerials against the Oilers, including three TD tosses to halfback Jim Romanyszyn, for 121 yards.

He was less effective against Townville, but the Rockets ground out 244 yards on the ground.

Up front, Titusville, is big. Barney McCracken (200), a name familiar to Dragon wrestling fans, is a two-way star for the Rockets, who's line averages 180-pounds on offense.

Dragon Head Coach Toby Shea hopes his team can put up an effective pass rush to stop McNamara and maintain ball control, although the Blue and White can be expected to pass often themselves.

Warren came away from the Franklin game with just one serious injury, a bad ankle sprain by junior fullback Steve Tundel. A doubtful starter at press time yesterday, Tundel's starting role would go to junior Bill Songer if he hasn't recovered.

Over the seasons, Titusville has given the Dragons more trouble than any other team on the schedule and tomorrow's game should be another exciting contest.

Sheffield is also faced with a rebounding problem. The Wolverines looked shabby in last Saturday's wallowing by Port Allegany, but the potential is there, and this could be the Orange and Black's week to yell.

Unfortunately, the opponent is St. Marys.

The Dutchmen had a 15-game winning streak snapped by Punksutawney in the season opener, 48-7, but came back strong to blank Moshannon Valley last week, 20-0.

Speedster Vic Gregori is a dangerous runner for the Dutch, who will also hold a decided weight advantage over the Wolverines. Coach Dick Shippe has a pair of 200-pounders at the tackles, with two boys at 190 right behind them. The lightest of three guards is 170, the other two who will alternate will go 195 and 180. Chuck Gooch (172) started at center last year and the ends are in the 170-pound class.

Craig Wensel, another returning starter, will be at quarterback.

Wolverine Coach Joe Giordano was disappointed with his team's showing against Port Allegany and hopes for a change in attitude this week. Center Conrad Grubbs and fullback Ray Morrison are still hobbled by injuries, but otherwise the Wolverines are sound physically.

A strong, heads-up game could spell an upset for Sheffield, a real morale booster, but another game like last Saturday's could produce another rout.

Youngsville was the only county team to come away with a victory last weekend and the Eagles did it convincingly, routing Cambridge Springs 34-0.

Quarterback Gary Wood has turned in two fine games passing and Coach By Welker will be hoping for a third tomorrow. George Nelson, Tom Burleigh and Denny Walton were Wood's targets last week again, giving Johnsonburg three good receivers to worry about.

Welker praised Arch Perrin, Jeff Luvison, John Thompson, Mike Soliday and John Campbell for their offensive blocking last week and Walton, John Anthony, Phil Holcomb, Conrad Danielson and Wood were up for laurels for their defensive play.

The Eagles have one injury, a bruised knee by senior Tom Soback, who is not expected to play.

Johnsonburg is no pushover. After losing to Class A Bradford the first time out, the Rams dropped a heartbreaker to Elk County Christian last weekend, 20-19.

Coach Bill Shesman has 16 lettermen back including 170-pound senior fullback Jim Kanski and a pair of quick halfbacks in Dave Miller and Chris Smith. Lettermen George Conney and Bernie Kanski alternate at quarterback.

Youngsville will have a weight advantage in the line against one of the smallest Johnsonburg teams in years, but the Rams are quicker.

The Eagles have number one on another victory skein safely tucked away, but will have to play their best ball to date to get past the Rams tomorrow.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL ROUNDUP:

Twins, BoSox Post Wins

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva slammed successive home runs in the sixth inning yesterday, powering Minnesota to a 4-0 victory over Kansas City behind Jim Merritt's two-hit pitching.

Chuck Dobson checked the Twins on four singles through five innings, until Killebrew and Oliva unloaded in the sixth.

Cesar Tovar launched the Twins' three-run rally by drawing a leadoff walk on a 3-2 pitch. Killebrew followed with his 40th home run of the season, a towering blast 430 feet into the pavilion in left-center field.

Then Oliva stepped up and whacked an opposite field line drive, which carried 370 feet into the pavilion in left. It was Oliva's 17th homer and second in as many days.

Bob Allison ducked out of the way of a high inside pitch, then laced a double to left-center, finishing Dobson.

Paul Lindblad relieved Dobson and snuffed out that rally, but fell victim to A's defensive lapses in the seventh to surrender an unearned insurance run. Errors by Sal Bando and Joe Rudi, around an intentional walk to Killebrew, produced the fourth Twins run.

BoSox-Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dalton Jones lined a two-run single in Boston's three-run sixth inning and the Red Sox went on to defeat Cleveland 6-5 last night to hang onto a share of the lead on the torrid American League race.

The Red Sox remained tied with Minnesota, which beat Kansas City, one game ahead of Chicago and 1½ games in front of Detroit, both of which were idle.

The Red Sox nursed a 1-0 lead into the sixth off Cleveland starter Steve Hargan. Walks to Mike Andrews and Carl Yastrzemski, George Scott's sacrifice, and an intentional pass to Reggie Smith filled the bases.

Jones' single scored Andrews and Yastrzemski, and Smith made it home for the third run on a wild pitch.

The Indians got back one run in the sixth, when Rick Scheblum walked, Chuck Hinton singled with two out — the second hit off Boston starter Gary Bell — and Tony Horton followed with a single to right center.

The Red Sox boosted their margin with two more runs in the seventh, when Bell added his own cause without double, Jose Tartabull tripled, scoring Bell, and a single by Andrews — his third hit — brought Tartabull racing home.

The Indians came back with three runs in the seventh, Jim King hit a pinch single, and Lee Maye, another pinch hitter, followed with a ground rule double. Both scored when Vic Davalillo's grounder got past Boston first baseman George Scott.

Cleveland added one more in the eighth on singles by Leon Wagner, Larry Brown and Fred Whitfield. Rain started to fall during the inning and with one out in the Boston ninth, time was called and the game was delayed for 61 minutes.

In the Cleveland ninth, Boston reliever John Wyatt got Schlenblum to fly out, struck out Hinton and got Horton on a grounder to Jones, ending the game.

The Indians had four pinch hits in the game, tying an American League record.

Braves-Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Tito Francona's run scoring single in the ninth inning broke a tie and Atlanta went on to a 4-2 victory over St. Louis last night.

Felix Millan led off the inning with a bunt single and moved to second on Woody Woodward's sacrifice. Joel Hoerner replaced Ron Willis on the mound for the Cards and gave up Francona's hit. After a walk to Gary Geiger, Hank Aaron's sacrifice fly drove in another run.

The Cardinals tied the score 2-2 in the seventh on singles by Mike Shannon and Tim McCarver. Dave Ricketts drove in the Cardinals' first run in the first with a sacrifice fly.

The Braves had taken a 2-1 lead in the fourth on singles by Rico Carty, Felix Millan and a sacrifice fly by Woody Woodward. Clete Boyer drove in Mack Jones in the first inning.

Senators-Orioles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tim Cullen's two-out single in the 11th inning drove in Ken McMullen with the winning run, giving Washington a 4-3 victory over Baltimore last night.

McMullen doubled with two out in the frame, and after an intentional pass to Paul Casanova, Cullen came up with the winning single.

The Orioles tied the game in the eighth on Frank Robinson's triple off the top of the rail in right and Brooks Robinson's sacrifice fly.

Bob Chance's third homer of the season, his first since his recall from Hawaii, followed a single by McMullen and a walk to Ed Brinkman in the Washington fourth.

ONE, TWO, THREE YEARS?

Yankees Say Mick's Still Not Finished

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — There have been rumors floating around that Mickey Mantle is going to call it quits as a baseball player next month and become a television or radio announcer.

"Not so," says Michael Burke, chairman and president of the New York Yankees.

"It is absolutely sure he will play one more year, it is likely he will play two and it is possible he will play three," Burke declared Thursday.

Mantle will be 36 years old Oct. 20 and he has been a major leaguer since 1951, all the time with the Yankees. Switched from the outfield to first base this season he has found a new lease on life even if his batting average doesn't sparkle quite as much as of old. He is still respectable .254 with 22 home runs. He has won 15 games with the anemic Yankees with crucial hits, eight being home runs.

"Broadcasting is not in our thinking for Mantle although we hope he will remain with the Yankee organization as long as he wants," said Burke.

"In fact, I doubt if broadcasting fits in with Mickey's view of the future although that isn't to say he might not do something with it. He has enormous magnetism and charm on television. He's relaxed and easy with natural animal warmth."

Burke, the greying, distinguished looking executive who the Columbia Broadcasting System put in charge of the Yankees when it acquired the ball club, must be numbered among the most ardent of Mantle's fans.

"He has enormous physical courage and pure guts," said Burke glowingly.

Despite a long series of physical handicaps, Mantle has already carved a place for himself in the baseball records. He is fifth on the all-time home run list with 518, only three behind Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, whom he certainly would overtake in another season.

Mantle was saved from retirement by the switch to first base where less strain is put on his legs—"an experiment that has been so beneficial to him physically," Burke explained.

It is this that may keep Mantle—and his $100,000-plus salary—going for a few more years.

Top Defense Mark Held By Steelers

NEW YORK (AP) — Pittsburgh has the best defense in the National Football League and Baltimore has the best offense according to the first week's official statistics released Wednesday.

The Steelers, of course, clamped down on the Chicago Bears. They held Gale Sayers and Co. to 95 yards, including only 16 on the ground.

Pittsburgh showed a solid offense, too, when it ran up 41 points against the Bears and gained 393 yards, good enough for fourth place.

John Unitas passed for 401 yards of Baltimore's league-leading total of 508 yards against the Atlanta Falcons. Next best is Los Angeles with 462 against the expansion team in New Orleans.

A statistic that does not show up in the weekly averages is the blocked field goal. Philadelphia blocked two against Charlie Gogolak of Washington last Sunday, big plays in a 35-24 victory for the Eagles.

Mike Morgan, Don Hutts and Harold Wells blocked a Gogolak attempt from the 25 early in the third period with the Eagles leading 21-17. Floyd Peters blocked another from the 19 on the last play of the third period.

Detroit's defense smeared Bart Starr of Green Bay seven times and intercepted four of his passes in a superior effort. Baltimore, Minnesota, Detroit and New York were able to keep their quarterback from being thrown for a loss.

An error by the scorer at Cleveland resulted in a statistical change, altering Cleveland's rushing from a minus five yards to a plus 11.

NEW YORK (AP) — Daryle Lamonica, who used to play second fiddle to Jackie Kempin in Buffalo, has come into his own as the leading passer in the American Football League with the Oakland Raiders in the latest statistics released Wednesday.

The former Notre Dame quarterback came to Oakland in the off season with receiver Glenn Bass in a deal that sent quarterback Tom Flores and receiver Art Powell to Buffalo.

In two games with Oakland, Lamonica has engineered an attack that has scored 86 points and has taken over the passing lead from Lenny Dawson of Kansas City, who had a by-las

Recruiting A Nasty Word, But Necessary for Winner

By DUFFY DAUGHERTY
Head Football Coach
Michigan State University

Recruiting, in some circles, is a nasty word, but I think it's so-called abuses are highly exaggerated.

There is nothing wrong with recruiting. If you like to have on your team the fine, high type young man who meets academic standards and is a good athlete you should be able to go out and tell him of the advantages of enrolling at your school.

At Michigan State we have a pride of different sales talks. If we're talking to a young man from the state of Michigan we'll say:

"Young man, why not stay in your own wonderful state? State pride must mean a lot to you and your family."

If we're trying to interest a young man from out of state we'll say:

"This country was made great by young people like yourself who had the courage to tear up their roots and go to a land of better opportunity."

You hear of schools giving exorbitant inducements to high school seniors. These stories, for the most part, I'm sure, are exaggerated. Never in the history of intercollegiate athletics have schools been abiding by the rules to a degree that they are now.

In recruiting you run into some funny things. I recall the day one of our backfield coaches brought a promising young man into my office. I said:

"Young man, you must be about 6 foot 3," and he said:

"Well, sir, I'm 6 foot 4 1/2."

"I judge you weigh about 230 pounds."

"Well, sir, your close but I weigh 248."

I asked if he played tackle or guard.

"Neither sir, I was a half-back."

I asked him how he did as a halfback and he replied:

"Well, sir, I set a new state scoring record with 42 touchdowns."

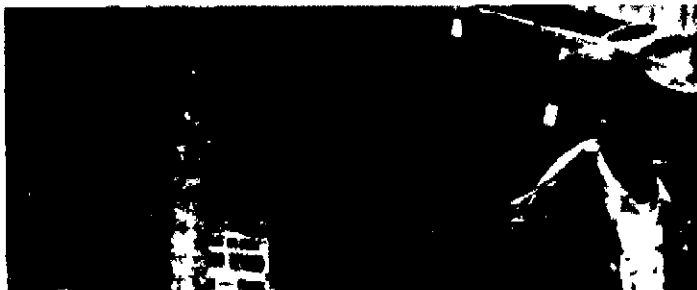

I asked if he had to do any

DARK, HUDGES, BERRA, WALKER POSSIBLE SUCCESSORS

Westrum Quits as Mets' Manager

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Wes Westrum, citing the mental and physical strain of the job, resigned yesterday as manager of the New York Mets.

Names immediately mentioned—not by the Mets — as possible successors were Alvin Dark, who was fired last month by Kansas City; Gil Hodges, who still has a year to go on his contract with Washington; Yogi Berra, former Yankee manager and now a coach with the Mets, and Harry Walker, fired by Pittsburgh in July.

Discussing his resignation at a news conference, Westrum said:

"I came to the conclusion that the strain of waiting in addition to the mental and physical strain of managing had become increasingly severe and that maybe the whole thing had developed into a blessing in disguise."

Westrum, who succeeded the original Met manager, Casey Stengel, midway through the 1965 season, said he would leave New York in a day or two to visit his mother, who has been ill, in Clearbrook, Minn., and then head for his home and family in Phoenix, Ariz.

President Bing Devine named coach Salty Parker to serve as manager until the end of the season.

Westrum first told Devine of his plan to resign Tuesday night and reiterated his intention Wednesday night in a meeting with Devine and M. Donald Grant, chairman of the Mets' board of directors.

"We were deep in the process of making a decision about Wes when he came to us," Grant said at the conference in the manager's room at Shea Stadium.

"Under the conditions," Westrum said, "and knowing baseball and being around the game for 26 years, if you don't improve your standing, certain things have to be done."

The 44-year-old former major league catcher took over on an interim basis after Stengel broke his hip July 25, 1965.

Given the job for 1966, he managed the Mets into ninth place, the first time they had broken out of the National League cellar since they began playing in 1962.

This year, however, the Mets are back in their familiar surroundings, currently lagging 5 1/2 games behind ninth-place Houston with only 11 games to play.

"If I didn't show it," Westrum said, "I can assure you that the strain of losing had become difficult to endure after the club had encouragingly gotten to within two games of the Dodgers in eighth place late in July."

Westrum was offered a job in the Mets' organization "but I don't know in what capacity yet."

Devine said he'd like Westrum to serve as a special assistant to him.

The president said the club hopes to select a new manager by the end of the World Series.

Devine ruled out at least two rumored possibilities, Bob Scheffing and Whitey Herzog, both of whom hold positions in the New York organization.

In fact the two have just exchanged jobs.

Asked what kind of manager the Mets are looking for, Grant replied:

"One that can win us the pennant."

Ex-Marine Opening Thunderbird Leader

BY WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Bill Collins, a strapping ex-Marine whose aches and pains drove him off the tour three years ago, sank king-sized putts on the first three holes and leap-frogged over golf's glamour boys for the first round lead yesterday in the $50,000 Thunderbird Classic.

The 6-foot-4, 205-pound teaching pro from the Brae Burn Club in Purchase, N.Y., ran down putts of from 14 to 30 feet in a quick explosion of birdies and sank another from 50 feet on the 10th for a 32-25-67 over the 7,005-yard par-72 Upper Montclair course.

This gave Collins a one-stroke edge over Homero Blancas, 29-year-old Mexican-American from Houston and Ryder Cupper Johnny Pott, tied at 68.

Five others, including the always dangerous Bill Casper were bracketed at 69 in a tight traffic jam at the top of the list of 122 golfers, but absent from the leaders were the names of the favorites Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

$50,000 checks, shot at 72 and Palmer, Jack's close pursuer in the money race, settled for a 71.

Both had trouble on the rock-hard greens, taking 34 putts each and the two of them had only four birdies between them — two apiece.

Tied at 70 were the veteran Art Wall Jr., former Master's champion; Bill Martindale and Terry Wilcox, N.Y.; former Open champion Dick Mayer and Steve Operman.

In the group with Palmer were such outstanding golfers as Gary Player of South Africa, two-time Open champion Julius Boros and Frank Beard, plus outsiders Charles Coody, David Jimenez, Bert Weaver and Bob Goetz.

high of $156,000-plus, described his round as not very exciting. "I one-putted on a two green," big Jack said. "I had 34 shots close enough to have made a few more putts. I should have shot around 70."

"I couldn't putt a lick," a discouraged Palmer said. "They just weren't going in for me." Blancas sank two putts of 15 feet and another of 20 in the final nine for a 68. Pott had one bogey and five birdies. His longest putt was a 35-footer at the 15th.

The defending champion, Mason Rudolph, struggled the 18 holes with a sore back and shot 73. "I shanked two shots," the Tennesseean said. "But I saw a doctor last night, got a pill and took some heat. My back hurts, but it's better."

Nicklaus, whose earnings this year have soared to an all-time

Early in his career he suffered from torn tendons in his right hand. Four years ago, he had a disc removed from his back and this largely was responsible for his leaving the tour for a club job. Eighteen months ago, he had an operation on his shoulder.

As if these weren't enough, he turned up this week with a bad throat and severe earache. "They've been giving me fits," he said.

Nevertheless, Collins used only 28 putts on his superb round, sinking putts of 14, 30 and 18 feet on the first three holes and ramming in a 10-foot at the fifth for four birdies on the first five holes. He had two bogies and seven birdies.

The early rounds were played under foreboding skies and in an occasional light drizzle. However conditions cleared in the afternoon and late finishers, such as Nicklaus and Casper were treated to ideal conditions.

Plan Construction Of Huge A-Smasher

By WALTER SULLIVAN
(c) N. Y. Times News Service
GENEVA—A determined step was taken here yesterday toward the establishment of a new European atomic center equipped with the world's most powerful atom smasher.

The giant machine is to produce a beam of protons with 300 billion electron volts (BEV) of energy. A machine being built at Weston, Ill., will produce 200 BEV.

It is expected that it will take eight and a half years to complete the European machine. The projected cost is $413 million compared to $240 million for the Weston machine.

Energy, in atom smashers, is the counterpart to magnification in biology. With the new generation of big machines, physicists hope they may be able to look deep enough into matter to guess at its fundamental nature.

At present, the most powerful atom smasher is a 30 BEV machine at Brookhaven, N.Y. A 70 BEV machine at Serpukov, U.S.S.R., is almost complete.

The only machine on the horizon larger than the European one is a 1000-BEV "cybernetic accelerator" under consideration by the Russians. To stop protons from wobbling in their track at such very high energies a computer would "watch" the beam and, in a few thousandths of a second, "tell" which magnets to squeeze hard to correct the wobble.

Yesterday's action was taken at a session of the council of the 13-nation European Organization for Nuclear Research. The organization, whose name is abbreviated to CERN, now operates Europe's most powerful machine, a 28-BEV proton accelerator on the Swiss-French border near here.

At the council session Prof. Gianpiero Puppi of Italy, chairman of CERN's science policy committee, proposed the immediate recruiting of a construction team for the project. Most important, he said, is choosing the man to lead it.

It was this procedure, in advance of a full national commitment to the project, he said, that enabled the Americans, under Dr. Robert R. Wilson, to make rapid progress in the Weston project, which Wilson hopes could be completed by 1972.

The proposal to recruit a construction team was warmly endorsed by Dr. Goesta W. Funke of Sweden, president of the CERN council, and was tacitly accepted by that body.

Top Pa. Policemen Rap Review Boards

HARRISBURG (AP) — The heads of the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh police departments said yesterday they were "absolutely" opposed to civilian review boards.

Both also said the police should be permitted to wiretap under certain conditions.

The heads, Commissioner Frank Rizzo of Philadelphia, and Superintendent James W. Slusser of Philadelphia, testified before a hearing called by the Police Task Force of the Pennsylvania Crime Commission.

The commission was formed by Gov. Shafer to investigate crime and the penal system in Pennsylvania.

Ex-Erie Man Dies In Crash

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — A nationally known equine artist and harness driver and a young attorney, both Kentuckians, were killed yesterday when their small plane crashed shortly after takeoff from the airport here.

They were identified as Allen F. Brewer Jr., 46, of Lexington and Charles W. Myers, a 28-year-old Louisville attorney formerly of Erie.

Myers was at the controls when, witnesses said, the plane came "almost straight down" in a fog-bound pasture about 100 yards from a house near Rothsville, about six miles north of here.

They had been visiting friends and were en route to Louisville at the time of the crash about 6:45 a.m.

Brewer's early career dealt with other forms of art but during World War II, while stationed at Orlando, Fla., he received his first equine commission from harness driver Gibson White.

It was in Orlando where Brewer met his future wife, Marian, then working for Brewer's commanding officer. The couple have six children ranging in age from five to 21.

In 1947, Brewer settled in Lexington, bought a small farm and began expanding his interests. At the time of his death, he owned a 161-acre farm just south of Lexington.

Brewer drove and trained harness horses, owned and trained thoroughbreds and formed a company dealing in reproductions of horse gifts, jewelry and fabrics.

Myers was married and the father of two children.

'Christ and Faiths of Men' Is Theme For Mission Study

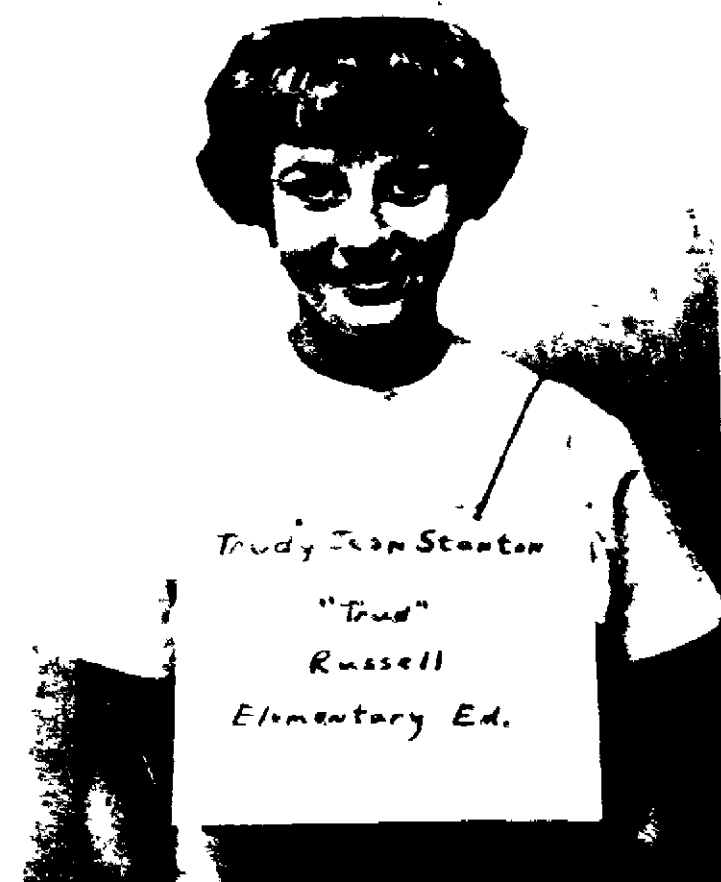

Mrs. Charles W. Hauser of Harrisburg is to conduct a Mission Study event at the First Presbyterian Church this Sunday from 3 to 8 p.m. for churches of Lake Erie Presbytery and others of this area.

Mrs. Hauser is listed in "Who's Who of American Women," and is capable, keen, informed and confident. She has made the study of missions a life work and is in demand as a dynamic speaker and instructor in missions courses, for churches, conferences, youth camps and institutes throughout the east. She serves in summer leadership schools for Lutherans, Baptists, Presbyterians, Evangelical United Brethren and participates in National Council summer conferences on Missionary Education.

In addition to national offices she has held with the Presbyterian Church, she has also served as a past vice president of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches, and has had particular interest in the Migrant Ministry of the council and has served on the Governor's Committee for Refugees.

The interdenominational theme under study is "Christ and the Faiths of Men," which will be used extensively throughout many denominations. This particular theme this year is highly significant in view of the current ecumenical climate and the need, too, for clearer informed understanding among all peoples, nations, creeds, and religions. How Christians relate to men of other faiths is a real and serious question. How Christian communities relate to others religious communities is also a serious question.

Friends of Mrs. Hauser and others interested in this vital subject should make dinner registrations with the church office no later than today by calling 723-9200.

FROSH WEEK

Trudy Stanton of Russell, a freshman at Edinboro's Off-Campus center here and employee of the TMO, is shown garbed in her red and white dink and sandwich sign—a must for the frosh at the campus this week. (Photo by Mansfield)

Dance to Climax Frosh Week at Local Off-Campus

By TRUDY STANTON

Orientation Week was one of excitement and suspense for the freshmen at Edinboro's Off-Campus Center here in Warren. This was a week set aside by the sophomore class to have some fun with the new students. Rules and regulations were set up by which the freshmen were asked to abide.

The freshmen were to wear from the hours of 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. a red and white dink (beanie) and a sandwich sign with information (such as the student's name, home town and major) written on it. There were some very embarrassing moments especially for those who worked between those hours and for those who had to eat in the local restaurants.

The incoming freshmen were forbidden to walk on the campus lawn or use the upperclassmen's furniture. They could use only the back and side entrances to the building and the freshmen stairs. As the freshmen found out, it was very easy to make a mistake.

An infraction of these rules caused the student to be sent to Kangaroo Court for his punishment. Many passers-by stopped to view the sessions of court that were held on the campus lawn. The most common punishment was called "air raid": The guilty party was required to carry a wastebasket filled with books; at the call "Air Raid!" the books had to be dumped and the basket placed on the culprit's head while he impersonated a "tommy gun."

The most important event of the week is yet to come. All freshmen are asked to be at the college at 12:45 sharp to day. There will be many surprises in store at this time. A dance at the school Saturday night will bring the week to a close. The Mere Mortals will provide the entertainment.

That Missing $1,000

ERIE — The missing $1,000 which has become a public joke and a sore spot with the Erie police department was not stolen from the safe, Police Chief Armand Chimenti declared Wednesday.

The money, $1014 in one dollar bills, was stolen after it had been removed from the safe, Chimenti said. According to the chief the money was taken out of the safe for return to its owner when it disappeared. The money was being held by police as evidence in a June 1966 burglary at St. John R.C. Church rectory. Police decided July 21 to drop the case against the defendant after the man was permanently injured in a traffic accident.

Shortly after that, the Rev. John F. Teller said he would stop at the station at 4 p.m. and pick up the money, Chimenti explained. The pastor failed to appear and the envelope containing the cash was not discovered missing until Aug. 22. It was last seen in the safe July 21, the chief said.

Chimenti admitted there was a laxity but that steps have been taken to prevent it happening again.

Although the money was reported missing Aug. 22, the police department did not report its disappearance until after Labor Day. No reason was given for this delay.

Library Has Records to Lend

A new service recently has been inaugurated at the Tidoute Public Library. Recordings now may be borrowed by patrons in the same manner as books.

The record library was begun with the gift of thirty recordings from a former Tidoute resident, Floyd King of Rochester, N.Y. The Columbia Record company recently contributed sixty-one records to the library.

Mrs. G. B. Chase, librarian, invites adults to sample the record library and will assist in selection.

16 Stitches Taken

Eleven-year-old Jim Higgins, 136 Callendar st. and student at Pleasant school, required 16 stitches around his eye at Warren General Hospital emergency room Monday night. His injury was sustained during an elementary football game at Beaty field.

Breakfast Briefs

Five at Session

Northwestern Chapter of Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants, held in Titusville, Sept. 15, was attended by five from the Warren area, Gerald L. Coates, Paul E. Gary, Shurl S. Glass, Mark J. Goumas and Eugene Way. Program "The Profile of a Successful CPA" was presented by Louis A. Werbaneth Jr. of Touche, Ross, Bailey and Smart.

Office to Move

The Warren County Planning office is scheduled to move into quarters vacated recently by the sheriff's department, according to Commissioner Blain M. Mead. Mead said the change was approved Monday by Commissioners D.H. Lay and Lewis L. Crippen following adjournment of their regular meeting. During the session, a request from register and recorder W. E. Rice to use the space presently occupied by Veterans Affairs Director William Karns, who sought the sheriff's offices, was denied. Crippen and Lay stated changes in offices should be tabled until the new board takes over in January.

Warren Group

The Warren group of ASME meets Sept. 27 at Blue Manor restaurant with a social hour at 6:30 p.m., dinner at 7 and a program at 8 p.m. The program is "The Kinzua Dam—It's Construction and Function" and "Pumped Storage Power Plant." Speakers are John F. Ewers, reservoir manager; Charles L. McMillen, district manager, Penellec and Francis P. Solomon, Warren Power Plant, Penellec. Reservations should be made no later than Monday.

9 Out of 11 Persons Plead Guilty as Charged

Eleven persons appeared before Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr. for open court arraignment yesterday afternoon. Nine entered guilty pleas while two entered pleas of innocent.

Those who pleaded guilty were: Samuel Earl Barr, 93 Mill st., Sheffield, furnishing malt beverages to minor; Berry H. Burcham, Bauer st., ext., operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license; Robert Lee Campbell, 222 Main st., Clarendon, driving under the influence.

Also: Gerald L. Fitzgerald, RDI, Stoneham, leaving the scene of an accident; Alfred Louis Leidinger, formerly of 7 Second ave., assault and battery; Darwin M. Hamold, 10 N. Main st., Clarendon, corrupting morals of a minor; Harry Poulain, 19 Anchor st., Clarendon, driving during suspension; Delbert H. Sprague, 103 Main st., Smethport, driving under the influence and Manley Peterson, 112 Walnut st., Warren, driving during suspension.

Burdette Westfall, Titusville, pleaded innocent on a burglary charge while Harold L. Roberts RD 2, Russell, entered the innocent plea on a charge of assault and battery.

Jean Anne DuFresne, 2001 Pennsylvania ave. E., charged with forgery was scheduled for arraignment, but failed to appear. Edward Lee Osieczonek, Rescue Mission, Jamestown, N. Y., charged with larceny, had his case disposed before a peace justice.

Two men are slated for sentencing this morning.

W. Pa. Blue Cross Seeks Higher Rates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Blue Cross of Western Pennsylvania sought permission yesterday to raise rates on some policies by 15.6 per cent.

It would be the second rate hike in a year for subscribers to the cooperatives 21.90 and standard agreements — the most popular policies.

Last February Blue Cross began hiking rates on a rotating basis by 23.4 per cent. The last increase was tacked onto agreements as old ones expired. The proposed boost would take effect in the same way.

Blue Cross President William Ford noted that the 15.6 per cent figure was an average. The increase for individual agreement holders would vary according to how often their group members entered claims against Blue Cross.

Ford said dwindling reserves and a 14 per cent increase in hospital costs spurred the latest request for a boost. The cooperative's reserves have dropped from $15 million in 1965 to $2.5 million now, he said.

But "the rise in hospital per diem costs continues to be the overwhelmingly dominant factor in Blue Cross rates," he said.

They said he was discovered missing about 8:30 a.m. Dauphin County Dist. Atty. Leroy Zimmerman only Wednesday charged Hunter with murder in the fatal stabbing last Aug. 26 of Mrs. Elizabeth Welser, 82, a Middletown widow. Hunter had been committed to the state hospital two weeks ago after his parents had petitioned the court to have him examined, Zimmerman said.

21 Indicted For Violation Of Draft Laws

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal grand jury indicted 21 men yesterday for violation of selective service laws—one of the largest groups ever indicted here on such charges.

U.S. Atty. Drew J. O'Keefe said 17 were indicted for refusing to perform civilian work at Norristown State Hospital instead of military service. Three were charged with refusal to be inducted into the armed forces and one for failure to report for induction.

O'Keefe said the 17 had previously been conscientious objectors' classifications and ordered to report for work at the hospital in place of military service. They failed to appear, he said.

Unemployment Claims Rise

HARRISBURG (AP) — Initial and continued claims for unemployment compensation increased slightly last week, the Bureau of Employment Security reported yesterday.

Continued claims totaled 60,089 an increase of 915 over the total of one week ago and 17,062 over the total the same week a year ago. The Bureau said the increase was due to temporary layoffs in food processing and primary metals. Initial claims totaled 14,415, exceeding by 1,916 the total for the preceding week.

ONE OF THE DELIGHTS AROUND THANKSGIVING TIME this year will be the annual Sweet Adelines presentation—"Magic Show"—at Warren Area High School's auditorium. The date to mark on your calendars is November 18th; the time is 8:15 p.m. Exciting plans are in the making—the first half of the show will be devoted to the theme of magic (the magician, of professional calibre, hasn't been named yet); the second half will be straight Barbershop singing by the chorus and quartets. Occupying special feature billing will be the "Pittsburghettes," of Pittsburgh, a comedy quartet and Regional Medalists of national reputation, who will add even more sparkle and fun to an evening just loaded with it. Wherever this particular quartet appears, so I was told, they are received with hilarious response. They will sing in both halves of the program. And, let's not forget Warren's own "Barber Sals," singers of recognized talent and repute themselves, who will sing their songs, adding to the evening's perfection. Once again, the date—Saturday, November 18th.

A PROGRESSIVE DINNER is next on the slate for the Mariners of First Presbyterian Church on Saturday, September 30th. The evening will begin with all gathering at the Donald Davis residence, 411 Liberty street, where plans will be revealed for the order of progression. The party is to conclude at Fellowship Hall of the church where dessert will be served and a program enjoyed.

THE R.C. FREDRICKSON of 1810 Market street Ext., with Mrs. Charles Lundahl have returned home after a thrilling experience in Norfolk, Virginia. There they witnessed the arrival of the damaged aircraft carrier the USS Forrestal—its railing lined with 2,500 American sailors dressed in their immaculate Whites and all standing at attention—at the Portsmouth Navy Yard where it will undergo extensive repairs. This is the ship that had the disastrous fire in the Gulf of Tonkin off the coast of North Viet Nam on July 29—Bruce Fredrickson is a crew member and was aboard the carrier when the fire struck. He accompanied his parents home this past weekend, but has now returned to Norfolk.

A SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY was observed by Mr. and Mrs. Preston L. Dunham of 228 Connecticut avenue, recently. They were honored by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Philip (Londa) Jewell of Erie, Miss Amy Dunham at home, Larry Dunham, a student at Buffalo Bible Institute, and Garry Dunham at home, with a dinner at Jackson Valley Country Club, and later in the evening with a surprise party at their home with family and friends. Mrs. Dunham had a corsage of dark orange roses and Mrs. Dunham a boutonniere for the occasion. The former Miss Kathleen McCullough and Mr. Dunham were married in Gainesville, Florida, on September 5, 1942.

MINIATURES: Mrs. Mary Foley of 209 Market street, has been enjoying a tour through the New England States.

Anyone who missed registration for the Warren Art League Fall Art Classes may still register—though there are only a few openings available in the limited classes. All material will be provided; call Mrs. Richard McClain at 723-6095 for more information.

Rosaline Ericson, Mary Campbell and Violet Borg are presenting today's opening program for the YWCA Dessert Club at 1:15 p.m. A tea will be served after the program.

Hints From Heloise

Picnic Hints

DEAR HELOISE:
Well in advance of a picnic. I prepare about one-half of the fruit drink or iced tea which we are going to take along and freeze it in plastic pint containers.
I also freeze some of the drink at the same time in as many tumblers as I will need for serving each person. I use plastic tumblers with the tight seals.
At serving time, I empty the pints into a large covered plastic serving pail and pour tap water into the pail.
The frozen portions which have been made twice as strong cool the water without becoming too diluted. In the meantime, the frozen pints of tea have been used to cool and keep our picnic food fresh.
I call this double duty! The tumblers are already cool and each has a nice chunk of ice because they will have melted slightly by the time you get there.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

Here is a special hint for those who travel with small children:
Buy one of the little wooden paddles which has a ball and rubber band on it (about 15c at your dime store) and then throw away the ball and rubber string.

Keep the paddle in the front seat of the car. It's a good reminder to the children to stop fighting, putting their heads or arms out the windows, etc.

If they know you'll stop the car and use the paddle on their little behinds, you won't have much trouble!

Audrey

DEAR HELOISE:

Here is a wonderful way to put an old toothbrush to good use.
When my husband gets cigarette tobacco in his pockets, I turn them inside out and use an old toothbrush to brush out the tobacco before laundering.

Gladys Craig

DEAR HELOISE:

I find that peg boards with the little wire hangers are a real help in keeping things in order and dangerous things OUT of reach of small children.

I have one board on the wall in my sewing room to keep my thread, scissors, tape, etc., within easy reach and in plain sight.

I use one in my kitchen for such items as pancake turner, cooking spoons and forks, measuring cup and spoons, etc.

These boards are easily painted to match any decor and are the handiest gadgets I have in my home.

The various wire hangers and little shelves can be rearranged and spaced any way you want.
They are inexpensive and one can buy them in any size.
Mrs. J. D. Guess

DEAR HELOISE:

I never apply varnish with a brush anymore. I always got too many bubbles that way along with streaks.
Instead I now apply it with a soft cloth.
Just rub it on and you will have a nice smooth finish with no bubbles or streaks.
Martha P.

DEAR HELOISE:

Folks, be sure the cloth is lint free. I tried it and it's the greatest. Faster, too.

DEAR HOMEMAKERS:

If you have a houseplant that suddenly gets a yellow leaf or becomes dry and degenerated... pinch the leaf off immediately as it WON'T grow healthy again and it is only sucking the NEEDED life from the rest of the plant.

This is especially true on philodendron and ivies. Most times (so I am told by a top authority) if the leaf is pinched close to the stem... another leaf will come out! Mine does.

Fry-Barr Nuptials Held
In Jamestown 1st Methodist

Kathleen Michele Fry and James Lawrence Barr exchanged their nuptial vows recently in the First Methodist Church, Jamestown, with the Rev. Raymond E. Risden officiating at the double ring rites. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winston B. Irwin of Bemus Point, N.Y., and Mrs. Raymond J. Fry of Stamford Court. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Barr of 113 Wilson Place, Jamestown, N.Y.

The chancel of the church was appointed with seven-branched candelabra, and arrangements of white and yellow mums, gladioli and pompons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie styled with Bateau neckline, enhanced with re-embroidered Alencon lace etched with pearls and sequins, elbow length sleeves; a cathedral train swept in graceful folds from the A-line skirt. Her veil of imported French illusion was suspended from a head-dress of silk organza petals embroidered with lace medallions and seed pearls. She carried a cascade of carnations.

The matron of honor, Mrs. David L. Richner, sister of the bride, wore a gown of white waffle pique trimmed in yellow. Bridesmaids, Miss Judith Barr and Mrs. Barrie Brown, were gowned identically in white with touches of yellow and green in chiffon and taffeta. Their flowerers were Colonial bouquets of white and yellow carnations.

Joseph Zaffino of Warren was the best man; ushers were Larry Weisbrod of Kane and Raymond Fry of Jamestown, N.Y. Mrs. George Fletcher, grandmother, wore a corsage of white carnations pinned to her ensemble.

A reception followed at the Irwin residence with sixty guests in attendance.

For a wedding trip to Indianapolis, Ind., the bride wore a white lace over crepe costume with a yellow carnation corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Barr are now at home to their friends at 153 South Main street, Jamestown, N.Y.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Bemus Point High School and is employed by Jamestown Telephone Company. The groom is a 1963 graduate of Jamestown High School and is employed by Sylvania Electric Company, Inc., Warren.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the groom's parents.

McCormick; membership committee, Roseann Baker; service committee, Pauline Gern, who will be assisted by Kaye Carlson and Lillian Snively.

The program was a contemporary Folk Service led by Mrs. Delores Bergstrand and The Holy Trinity Singers from Jamestown, N.Y.

The Riot Squad, a musical group, is scheduled to play at the Tionesta Fire Hall this evening at 8 o'clock until 11:30, for a dance sponsored by the junior firemen.

Tomorrow night the group will play at the Ski Lodge in Youngsville from 9 to 12 midnight. The price of the admission for both dances is 75 cents per person.

Everyone is invited to join in the fun.

Speech Therapist Addresses Parents - Teachers Group

Interested parents and teachers heard Myron Latimer, speech therapist, at the first meeting of the year for Allegheny Valley Teacher-Parent Group held in Clarendon School Monday evening. Mr. Latimer told of the hearing test given to over 300 first, second and third grade students that day and the need for closer screening of some in order to detect some possible hearing problems.

Mr. Latimer and his staff are now able to give weekly attention to about 9 per cent of students having speech difficulties.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Gretchen Tingwall after devotions were led by Mrs. Stanley Albaugh. Mrs. Patty Baker and Mrs. Carley Wiedmaier reported for the Projects Committee and thanked all who helped or contributed to the very successful pie social.

Other projects announced were the selling of sweatshirts soon and identification tags later in the year. Monthly skating parties will begin at the Sheffield rink the third Thursday of October from 7 to 9; and cans of candy, five varieties, will soon be available from some of the students. Advance orders can be given to Mrs. Wiedmaier by calling 726-0705.

Memberships were taken with the drive continuing through the month. Mrs. Carlett's first grade at Washington School won the attendance award. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Judy Groesch and Mrs. Shirley Kittner of the executive committee.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH MICHAEL CASTAGNINO (McGarry Studio)

Dilick-Castagnino Nuptials Solemnized In St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church

St. Joseph Catholic Church was the setting for the marriage of Leona Ann Dilick to Joseph Michael Castagnino recently. The double ring wedding rites were read at 12 noon by the Rev. Father Norman Smith, assistant pastor, in the presence of about one hundred and fifty guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dilick of 10 W. Main street, Sheffield. The groom is the son of Mrs. Helen Castagnino of 9 Wetmore street, Warren, and the late Mr. Joseph Castagnino.

Mrs. Thomas Donnelly provided wedding music at the organ; Robert Dietsch was the vocalist. Two baskets of white carnations and four baskets of fern adorned the altar.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father. She was gown in white peau de sole with organza. The floor length gown had empire lines with rounded neckline and tapering sleeves coming to wedding points at the wrists. A crown of seed pearl hearts with silk illusion held her fingertip length veil and she carried miniature white carnations entwined with a crystal rosary from the Vatican and a white orchid.

The matron of honor, Juanita Dilick, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., sister-in-law of the bride, was in moss green linen with pink velvet ribbon; her headdress of pink rosettes secured a matching veil. She carried deep pink carnations tied with pink velvet ribbon. Bridesmaids were Patsy Dilick, sister of the bride, Karen Tomassoni and Cindy Paup. All were gownned similarly to the honor attendant and carried light pink carnations with moss green velvet ribbon. The flower girl, Cindy Dilick, sister of the bride, was dressed the same as the honor attendant and carried a basket of pink carnations.

The groomsmen were Nick Creola, a cousin of the groom, and James Carbon, Nick Tomassoni, Victor Suppa. Timmy Castagnino, a cousin of the groom, was the ringbearer.

Mrs. Dilick chose a pink linen dress with beige accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of baby pink rosebuds. Mrs. Castagnino mother of the groom, chose an ensemble of raspberry pink.

A reception was held in St. Paul's Center in Saybrook with three hundred guests present. Decorations were carried out in white, pink and green bells, balloons and crepe paper streamers. Aides were Mrs. Frances Lindsey, aunt of the groom, Mrs. Andrea Piper, cousin of the bride, Miss Carolyn Zingone, cousin of the groom, managed the guest book.

For traveling to Washington, D.C., the new Mrs. Castagnino wore a suit of yellow linen with black leather accessories and a white orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Castagnino are now residing at 217 Canton street.

The bride is a 1962 graduate of Shannock Valley High School and is employed at Sylvania Electric Products. The groom is a 1959 graduate of Warren High School, has served two years with the U.S. Army, four months of which were in Vietnam.

He is employed at the Reserve Loan Company in Warren.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Frances Lindsey, Mrs. Jennie Castagnino, Mrs. Carolyn Atkins and Mrs. Karen Castagnino. Also, Mrs. Connie Carr and Mrs. Ange Muczynski. The rehearsal dinner was given by Mrs. Helen Castagnino, mother of the groom, at the Mineral Well Restaurant.

Mr. Fox, a 1959 graduate of Eisenhower High School, and a 1963 graduate of The Pennsylvania State University and Officers Candidate School at New Port, Rhode Island, has served four years as a Naval Supply Officer aboard the USS Two Jima. He is presently doing graduate studies at Michigan State University in Resource Development.

A March wedding is planned by the couple.

Eagles Auxiliary Has Initiation

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles held initiation ceremonies for one new member, Roseann Nuhfer, at the meeting on Tuesday night. The president, Ruby Cook, presided.

Plans were discussed to hold a "white elephant" sale at one of the birthday dinners with proceeds to be donated to the Max Baer Heart Fund.

Also, a corn roast will be held tomorrow evening at the Lester Cooks' residence honoring all September birthdays. It will be a tureen supper at 6 p.m. and will also be a stork show for Mr. and Mrs. James Henry.

All auxiliary members and their husbands are invited. Besides tureens, members are to bring table service.

October birthdays will be remembered on October 24 with a dinner at the Eagles Club.

The attendance prize was awarded to the president, Ruby Cook. The next meeting will be on October 3, with officers to meet the day before.

District I BPW Council Meeting in Titusville this past Sunday.

The memorial will be located in front of the chapel and plans call for an elevated combination of flowers and fountains. The project is to be financed entirely by voluntary contributions from club members of Pennsylvania.

Members of the Warren BPW attending the district meeting were Mrs. Eva Schmiedel, Mrs. Bernice Dell, Mrs. Helen Olson, Mrs. Neva Ladner, Miss Betty Lyle and Mrs. Florence Ott. Mrs. Ladner is corresponding secretary for the district and Mrs. Olson is by-laws chairman for the district.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I give some advice to the young girl who wants to know if she should sacrifice her own college degree and go to work to put her husband through medical school? The answer is NO. I did it and it was the biggest mistake of my life.

I was 20 when I married Bill. I had two years of college and he was entering med school. I went to work to put him through because I thought it was the right thing to do. Before I knew it he was asking me to call him "Doctor" because it sounded "more professional." (He was calling me "Stupid" and a few other things.)

I sat home typing his papers while he went to campus functions. (I didn't fit in—different world, he said.)

Well, our worlds have been different, all right. Now he is a successful physician and I might as well be on Mars. In small ways he reminds me that I am intellectually inferior to him and that he outgrew me years ago. I thought he'd love and respect me more if I gave up my chance so he could have his. I was, unfortunately—MISTAKEN

DEAR MISTAKEN: You gave up. Period. Instead of feeling inadequate all these years, why didn't you go back to school? Easy? Of course not. But not impossible. Bill may be an ingrate, but you shouldn't conclude that all wives who helped put husbands through school are sorry.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several days ago I watched an evening TV show where the host has guests from every walk of life. The guest I am writing about was taking a terrible chance because from the way she looked she could have had her baby right there in the studio.

This woman started by putting down the telephone company for their "lousy service" and "rude operators." Then she said, "The colors of the phones these days are enough to make a person sick. They look as if Helen Keller picked them out." After that shocking remark she closed her eyes and started to paw the air—imitating a blind person.

In all my life I have never seen anything that made me so mad. Please comment on this.—LETTING OFF STEAM

DEAR STEAM: Your indignation is certainly justified. Helen Keller is one of the most remarkable women of any century and anyone who would ridicule her is beyond contempt. I hope the host on the program planned that jackass' ears back.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a girl of 13 and I have a problem. Three weeks ago my best friend said, "Your legs look like they belong to a baboon. Why don't you get rid of that hair before some guy makes a remark?"

I felt so terrible that I went right home and took my father's razor and shaved my legs. I look 100 per cent better and I am really happy I did it.

The next day my little sister told my mom what I had done and she blew a gasket. Now she is mad at me and treats me very cold.

Please tell her that it was necessary for my peace of mind, and that I didn't do anything wrong. Thank you.—BETTER OFF NOW

DEAR BETTER: Thirteen may be a little young for leg-shaving, but there are exceptions. Hairy legs can ruin a girl's self-confidence. By 15, if she has the problem she should do something about it. In your case, the deed is done, so your mother should defrost already and forget it.

The bidding South West North East
1 NT Pass Pass Pass Opening lead Three of ♠
Alpha South's holding does not quite meet the book requirements for a three no trump bid, many players chose that call when today's hand was dealt in a recent tournament.

Observe that South has only 24 high card points, counting one extra for all four aces. The six card suit does provide a measure of compensation, however.

The opening lead by West was usually the fourth best spade and East's jack dislodged declarer's king. South had four top tricks in spades, hearts, and diamonds and he observed that with a three-two division in clubs, he could establish five more tricks by playing the ace, king, and another club.

Inasmuch as there was no quick entry to dummy for a finesse and the odds were at "east" two-to-one in favor of the expected break, declarer proceeded to cash his high clubs. When West showed out on the second round, South's plan went on the rocks. East was in on the third round of clubs to clear the spade suit, and when he regained the lead with the queen of clubs he returned a spade and West cashed three more tricks.

Only one declarer succeeded in taking nine tricks—and this was the result of an unorthodox line of play. The opening lead was a spade won by South with the king. Instead of going after clubs immediately, however, this player led a small diamond from his hand.

By establishing a delayed entry to dummy, South assured himself of an opportunity to take a club finesse. He appears to be trading two-to-one odds for a mere 50-50 chance, however, there was one additional factor to be considered. If West has the missing king of diamonds, he may be reluctant to release that card prematurely. Observe that by ducking one round of diamonds, West can shut declarer out of cashing North's long card in the suit.

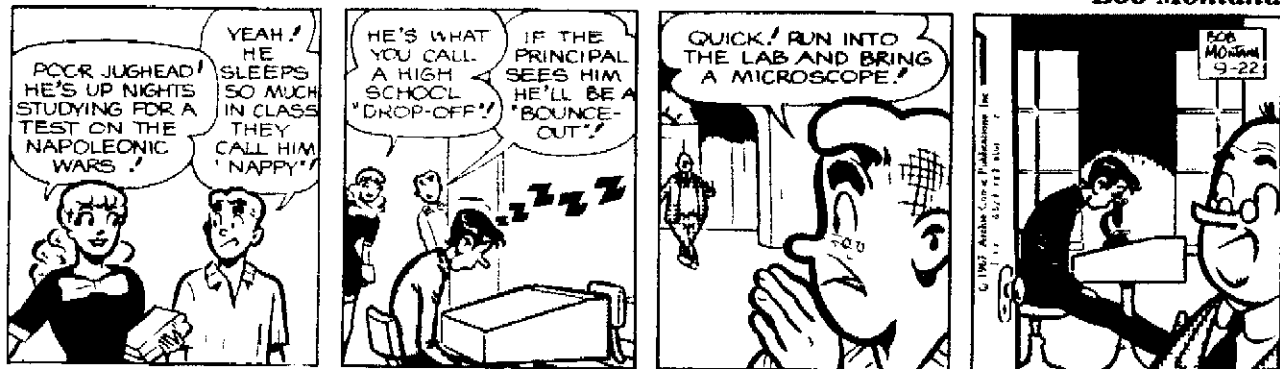

Altho West could not read his opponent's plan of campaign, he decided against a waiting game. He rose with the king of diamonds at trick two and returned a spade to clear South's remaining stopper. The latter proceeded to cash three diamond tricks after which a club was led from dummy. Declarer finessed the jack and altho the suit did not divide evenly, he was able to run for cover with nine tricks—three clubs, three diamonds, one heart, and two spades.

Altho declarer's reasoning may appear a bit specious to some, nevertheless he was the only player to score a profit on the deal with the North-South holding.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1967.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Ideas deserted you? Ambition dulled? These are tendencies now. Relax, but not to such a degree that you neglect due assignments. And, remember, efforts are fruitless if pointless.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Transplant "live wire" ideas into brisk, quality action. Implement your program with the thorough thinking that afforded past successes. A purely objective view will help you to eliminate non-essentials.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Planetary influences favorable. Don't flounder about without a set and clear target. Know where you stand and what you intend to accomplish. Then the doing will become truly effective, stimulating.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Mild planetary aspects need not deter you from doing your best. Pit your potentiality and experience against the field. With coordinated and rightly independent effort, you can "break through" singularly.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Pitch into activities with verve, confidence, know-how. If advice is needed, seek it from competent heads. If new ideas could be helpful, put and keep on your thinking cap.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Keep estimable intentions in the forefront. Motives that impel you are strong, but express thoughts in recognizable form, leveled thoughtfully at objectives.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—A transition period is indicated; study it, evaluate it, THEN act on it.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—The position of Mars warns against restive, irritable moods. Put yourself in a calm, progressive, diplomatic frame of mind. Be ready to adjust to varying situations. Note: The constant objector only culls trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Present velocity of action and its direction should lead you to study needs closer, determine anew your course and conduct. Keep up to date, move forward, but always with true betterment in view.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Employ the techniques successfully used in past efforts. But do not hesitate to update plans and vitalize your approach. Tact in personal affairs!

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Neither press too feverishly for results nor, on the other hand, yield to despondency when things don't go right. Set a mid-die-of-the-road pace, and follow it.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Your intuition and generally intelligent judgment in matters you understand will be a boon in the tight spots now. Give special care to all obligations.

YOU BORN TODAY have a wealth of personality; like things to work out artistically, harmoniously, and will work hard. At times you can be very set in your ways however, and frustrate lifemate, associates. But over the years your credits are many, your failings few. You could be an able politician, secretary, public speaker, unusual artist, gifted teacher, instructor. Your discriminating taste, refinement and good manners are outstanding. Birthdate of: Michael Faraday, physicist.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE ITCH

Scabies (the itch) may be on the rise. London dermatologists report a 2½ times increase at St. John's Hospital for Diseases of the Skin. General practitioners in different parts of England report a recent rise in areas that were free of scabies for years. They hint that an epidemic may be in the making.

Twenty-two cases were reported in Georgia. The majority were children and the causative mites were traced to pet dogs. As a rule, animal parasites do not find the human skin a favorable habitat and the ensuing infestation usually runs a mild course. Although the results of treatment were excellent the source was more difficult to manage. The same remedies were less effective in eliminating mange mites from infested pets.

In scabies, an itchy rash develops between the fingers, the flexures of the arms, armpits, breasts, lower abdomen, buttocks, and genitals. This skin disease is caused by an unpropagated mite that burrows into the skin to lay her eggs. The male dies after attending to his duties and the female after her eggs are deposited. The larvae are hatched in three to four days and change into the adult form shortly thereafter. The youngsters return to the skin and hide in hair follicles.

Diagnosis is based upon the presence of an itchy eruption and removal of the mite with a needle for laboratory study. Itchiness does not occur until the victim becomes sensitive to the organism. This takes place within a month after infestation. On the other hand, sensitivity continues long after the condition is cured explaining why itching returns immediately after being exposed a second or third time.

Eurax cream or lotion, benzyl benzoate, and gamma benzene hexachloride cream are the best remedies. Treatment is external. Underwear, night clothes, and bed linens should be changed daily for four days, to avoid reinfection.

TOMORROW: Emphysema.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

RIGHT ARM FATTER

Mrs. M. J. writes: Our 5-month-old baby's right arm is fatter than his left. He uses both arms well. Is there any explanation for one being larger than the other?

REPLY: Examination will be necessary to determine the true nature of this condition. The baby's left arm, for example, may be weak as a result of nerve injury, or a circulatory disorder may exist, causing enlargement of the right arm.

ACID CONTENT

M. T. writes: When a person suffers from nausea and has a sour, nervous stomach is there too much acid in the stomach or not enough?

REPLY: Indigestion may stem from too much or not enough acid. On the other hand, nervousness is a more common cause and usually is unrelated to the acid content.

Friday's TV Highlights

WILD WILD WEST at 7:30 p.m. on Chs. 4, 35, and 10. Agents West and Gordon, following an assassination attempt on the life of a Mexican president.

OFF TO SEE THE WIZARD at 7:30 p.m. on Ch. 7 offers an unusual film depicting the efforts of an American scientist to save Africa's rare white rhino and other oldt animals from extinction.

STAR TREK at 8:30 p.m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 guest stars Michael Forest and Leslie Parris in "Who Mourns for Adonals?" The leader of a slowly-dying community that is patterned after the civilization of ancient Greece, demands that Enterprise crew members join his colony as permanent residents.

CBS FRIDAY NIGHT MOVIE at 9 a.m. on Chs. 4, 35, and 10 screens "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance," starring James Stewart, John Wayne and Lee Marvin, with Vera Miles, Edmond O'Brien, Andy Devine and Ken Murray. The classic western drama is about Liberty Valance who terrorizes a small western town and is opposed by only two men... the hero of the town and a tenderfoot lawyer. The wrong man takes the credit for killing him and becomes a U.S. Senator.

GUNS OF WILL SONNETT at 9:30 p.m. on Ch. 7 offers "A Grave for James Sonnett," in which Will and Jeff Sonnett are told that the man for whom they are searching, James Sonnett, had been killed while ridding village of a marauding bandit gang.

BELL TELEPHONE HOUR at 10 p.m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 presents "The Many Faces of Romeo and Juliet," in four versions of Shakespeare's tale of the ill-fated lovers. Four pairs of performers present interpretations of the poignant balcony scene: Jason Robards and Claire Bloom (theater); Sandor Konya and Anna Moffo (opera); Erik Bruhn and Clara Fracci (ballet).

PTA Meets New Faculty Members

Tidioute PTA held its first meeting of the new school year on Tuesday evening. The Rev. George Campbell, president, led the group in the Lord's Prayer, pledge of allegiance, and devotions.

The program was devoted to introduction of new faculty members: Mrs. James Jetter, kindergarten; James Scallise, mathematics; and Mrs. Margaret Alberth, teacher's aide.

Harold Guthrie, Tidioute school principal, itemized the supply of new textbooks and equipment for the various departments provided by the Warren County School District. He described the course in Accelerated English being offered to 11th grade students.

Mr. Guthrie also informed parents that a composite picture of a pupil's class or group might be obtained if at least twenty-two orders were forthcoming. Anyone interested should contact Mrs. George McKown. Mr. Guthrie also stated that room visitation will be held from 7:30 to 8 p.m. prior to the next PTA meeting so that parents can confer with teachers.

The PTA meeting date was discussed and it was suggested that more parents might be able to attend if the date were changed to the fourth Tuesday night of each month. It was voted to install new officers in April in order that they might serve until May, thus facilitating the appointment of committee chairmen for the next year.

New Arrival

A baby girl, Traci Dannette, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Duncan at Bethesda Naval Hospital, Md. on Sept. 1.

Mrs. Duncan is the former Judy Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thomas.

State Fishing Contest Planning on Schedule

As is customary this time of the year, the Tidioute Area Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday night was devoted to progress reports of the tournament committee in regard to the 1967 Pennsylvania State Fishing Tournament which will be staged for the eighth consecutive year on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 14 and 15.

Donald Kinstiver, chamber vice president and general chairman of the tournament committee, presided and reported on the summer fishing contest and the awarding of prizes to the monthly winners to date. This story was in the TMO Thursday morning, with a picture of the winners.

The trophy committee reported it had ordered a thirty-six inch championship trophy in blue, silver and marble. The four summer contest winners and winners in the elimination contest on Saturday, Oct. 14, will receive 25-inch trophies, and runners-up trophies will be 19½-inches in height. The insignia and motif will be the same for all trophies.

The chamber voted to appropriate $400 prize money for the annual hometown parade which will be staged Saturday afternoon, Oct. 14, by the Tidioute Lions Club. Letters will be going out from the finance committee to those who have made pledges advising them that their contributions will be received now.

The handling of concessions was discussed and a set-up and percentage fee schedule was set. Those desiring to have booths or concessions of any type during the tournament weekend should contact Mrs. Earl Yeager, James King or Mrs. Harriette Gustafson for information.

The matter of feeding Tidioute's many visitors during tournament weekend will be solved in part by the Lions Club chicken barbecue, the Mountain Grange smorgasbord, and the VFW fish fry. The tournament committee suggested that a fisherman's breakfast on Saturday morning might be a good project for some organization. The committee provides breakfast on Sunday morning for the finalists and referees.

William Allen was named to preside as master of ceremonies at the crowning ceremonies and presentation of trophies Sunday afternoon, Oct. 15. The judges' committee has lined up the following judges for the two-day tournament: C. Paul Blair, radio commentator from Sharon; Seth Myers, sports writer and a past president of the Outdoors Writers Association; Roger Latham, outdoors writer for the Pittsburgh Press; and Harley Wilson, of the Corps of Engineers at Kinzua Dam.

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission will have its live fish display on exhibit during the tournament, which always attracts many viewers. There will also be a display of hunting, fishing and general outdoors sports equipment.

Chamber of commerce members are advised that there will be special meetings held at 8 p.m. in the Vets bldg. on Tuesday evenings, Oct. 3 and Oct. 10. All chamber and tournament committee members are urged to be present.

Farewell Sept. 27 For Fr. Sanner

A farewell party will be held Wednesday evening, Sept. 27, in Mountain Grange Hall starting at seven o'clock in honor of the Rev. James Sanner. Father Sanner has been assisting the Rev. J. A. Fleckenstein at St. John's Church in Tidioute for the past several months.

Father Sanner will be entering the armed forces as an army chaplain on October 1. The community is invited to attend the reception and wish Father Sanner success and God's protection in his new ministry.

From Our Corner

PROTECT YOUR CHILD

Since the health and well-being of their children is a vital concern of parents, this column will be devoted today to a new release on the measles eradication program. The release was provided for publication by Harold Guthrie, Tidioute school principal. It reads as follows:

HARRISBURG—The U.S. Public Health Service announced early this year, that 1967 can be the year that measles will be eradicated. With the development of a safe vaccine, administered in a single dosage—guaranteeing lifetime immunity—such a comprehensive program can be successfully conducted. There is one provision, however. If the public cooperates fully, measles like polio will cease to be a threat to our youths' health. While such participation cannot be guaranteed; it must be encouraged. Those who do not, cannot or will not participate in immunization methods are those who suffer. In Pennsylvania within the past four years, fifty-one children died of measles, needlessly. One child in every six infected developed complications often serious and crippling, needlessly. They were not immunized.

In twenty-two counties throughout Pennsylvania, 127,133 children received measles vaccine in addition to those children immunized by private physicians and state operated clinics. This was possible through programs conducted by their County Medical Societies assisted by the Pennsylvania Department of Health.

Under the direction of local physicians jet injectors made the administration of the vaccine quick and relatively painless. Nearly two-thirds of the susceptible children were protected. This number could have been greater.

This fall these programs will continue in twenty additional counties again under the auspices of the County Medical Societies. Your county is one of those involved.

Believing that successful, good public health is the responsibility of each one of us, the Pennsylvania Department of Health urges you to consider the importance of your role. Should you have a younger brother or sister, assure their protection against the menace of this disease—measles. Inform your parents of the immunization programs coming to your county. The request is simple yet the responsibility is great since the consequences are or can be dire. Everyone must be given a chance for immunization and that chance rests upon being informed. The health of your family, your neighbor and your community may depend upon a word. That word is Immunization.
